Wider Break Looming In French Fight

Rumors Spread On DeGaulle Move For Dictatorial Powers

BULLETIN

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle's chief representative in Algeria pleaded with insurgent Frenchmen today to lay down their arms and end a general strike against the policy of self-determination for Algeria.

PARIS (AP)—The threat of a further break between inflamed Algeria and President Charles de Gaulle's Paris government grew hourly today.

As the deadlock went into its fourth day, rumors spread that the President might evoke constitutional provisions that would give him dictatorial powers if he feels France's integrity is menaced.

Reports also persisted that Premier Michel Debre would resign as a result of the crisis in which 26 persons died and about 150 were injured in a battle last Sunday pitting Frenchman against Frenchman. Debre's aides denied the report.

There was no sign of a solution to the situation which posed the gravest threat to De Gaulle since the Algerian uprising of May 1958 doomed the Fourth French Republic and vaulted him to power.

The barricaded insurgents — fearful that De Gaulle's moderate self - determination policy would lead to eventual independence for Algiers—demand that the largely Moslem land remain French.

From his palace, De Gaulle reaffirmed his policy and called on the insurgents to lay down their arms.

Debre conferred hurriedly this morning with Jacques Chaban-Delmas, president of the National Assembly, on the tense situation. They continued discussions begun Tuesday night when both met De Gaulle.

As the deadlock persisted, unrest in other Algerian cities was growing. Demonstrations were held Tuesday in Bone, Constantine, Oran and other cities in sympathy with the Algiers insurgents.

There seemed to be no question of the government being able to crush the insurgents any time it chose. The government troops were vastly more powerful than the few hundred diehards huddled behind barricades and barbed wire in the heart of Algiers.

So far the army apparently has remained loyal to De Gaulle, but its morale has been shaken by the prospect of having to fire upon Frenchmen.

There were unconfirmed reports troop commanders in Algiers had promised not to fire on the insurgents.

This would mean the diehards either would have to be persuaded to lay down their arms or be starved out.

So far they have had little trouble getting supplies through the cordon of paratroopers. And they have showed no sign of giving in.

The longer they remain unsubdued, the greater the threat that others would join in the protest against the Paris government.

De Gaulle was said to be unwilling to take on dictatorial powers for fear of magnifying the crisis.

It was De Gaulle's insistence on the right of the Algerian people—including a million European settlers and nine million North Africans—to choose their own future that led to Sunday's bloody uprising.

Premier Debre, who returned from Algiers Tuesday after a quick pre-dawn conference with leaders there, warned that "all can be lost" if order was not soon restored to the turbulent North African territory.

Mild Weather To End With New Cold Front

Mild weather is nearing an end with a new cold front heading for the Ohio Valley, bringing snow flurries and sub-freezing temperatures.

The Ohio weatherman said the mercury may soar above 47 today before the chilly spell arrives tonight with rain turning to snow flurries by Thursday morning.

Dam 8 at Newell said the mercury rose to 40 degrees at noon, high mark since Tuesday noon. The overnight low was only 31.

Tonight's low temperatures will be a sub-freezing 24 to 29. Tomorrow will be colder with snow flurries.

Locks To Be Cleaned

Park Trails Take In Canal

William Price of Columbus, left, chief naturalist for the Parks Division of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, and Walter Burbick, right, manager of Beaver Creek State Park, looked over Lock 36 of the Sandy & Beaver Canal during Price's visit to the park Tuesday.

Price and Burbick traveled along some of the hiking trails to be laid out with signs at the park and inspected some of the old canal locks which will be cleaned for the spring and summer season.

Price was at the park Monday and yesterday to go over proposed hiking trails, including one from Echo Dell downstream to Lock 40 and another from County Rd. 419 to Lusk's Lock near Elkton.

There are about 10 locks of the short-lived canal built in the mid-19th Century located on park land and plans call for clearing brush from the lock sites and removing small trees and bushes which have grown into the stone work, Price said.

Price and Burbick are shown looking at the lock at Echo Dell, where some brush has been cleared but tree felling is slated.

Vondergreen Lock at the park is in "almost perfect" preservation, Price said, but requires some clearing. Vondergreen and Lusk's Lock are in the best condition of any in the area.

Plans call for clearing of hiking trails and erection of signs along the trails at the locks. Price said he will return to the park throughout the winter and spring to hike the proposed trails with Burbick.

The tract at Echo Dell is the main section of the 1,332-acre park. Ice filled the locks and lined the banks of Beaver Creek as the two men traveled throughout the park in the past two days and Price took many photographs of the locks and other picturesque scenes such as the crumbling 123-year-old Gaston Mill.

50 Others Are Hurt During Stampede At Depot In Seoul

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Thirty-one holiday-bound Koreans were killed and 50 injured Tuesday night in what one survivor called the "living hell" of a human stampede at the Seoul railway station.

Eleven of the victims were children under 10.

They either suffocated or were trampled to death when hundreds of ticket buyers, dashing wildly to crowd into the last night train to Mokpo, piled up at the bottom of a steep stairway.

Officials said one person apparently slipped on the snow-covered stairs, starting a human avalanche.

Transportation Minister Kim Il Hwan resigned today after eyewitnesses blamed station officials for the tragedy. The station master also was relieved of his duties. President Syngman Rhee ordered an investigation.

More than 3,000 tickets had been sold for the train's 16 coaches—more than twice the number of seats—and the station gates were opened only five minutes before departure time.

Sixteen of the dead were women. Most of them were servants en route to their home in Mokpo, a seaport in southwest Korea, to celebrate the lunar calendar New Year, which falls Thursday.

Atty. Hunston Will Make Bid For Congress

Atty. Walter Jay Hunston, 40, of Salem today announced he will be a candidate for nomination as 18th District congressman in the Republican primary in May.

Former Salem city solicitor, who was defeated for Congress by incumbent Rep. Wayne L. Hays (D) in 1954, Hunston is a native of East Palestine, son of County Commissioner Walter Hunston.

A graduate of Baldwin-Wallace College, he attended Duke University Law School until America entered World War II when he enlisted in the Navy, serving three years in the Pacific.

He was graduated from Western Reserve School of Law in 1947, then opened an office at Salem where he has since lived. He is married and has a son and two daughters.

He is president of the Salem Area Development Council, was head of the Salem Civic Committee for two years, and has been Sunday School Superintendent at the Methodist Church for 10 years.

4th Candidate Enters Representative's Race

A fourth candidate filed today with the County Election Board to seek nomination for state representative in the May 3 primaries, but the new entry did not produce a race for either party because two seats are open.

The latest in the field is Atty. J. Warren Bettis of Salineville, assistant county prosecutor, second to file for the Republican nomination. He had announced earlier. Rep. Clarence L. (Dutch)

Charges Fill Political Air In West Virginia

Oratory Flies After Democratic Break With Underwood

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Election-year charges are flying back and forth in the West Virginia legislature as a result of the Democrats' break with Republican Gov. Underwood over what and how much to do about unemployment.

The oratory broke loose in both houses Tuesday. Senate President Ralph J. Bean (D-Hardy) accused Underwood of playing "the great game of politics at the expense of the citizens of West Virginia."

Said Bean: "The governor suddenly in an election year becomes concerned about the unemployed. He should have come up with some program years ago instead of traveling around this country and foreign nations."

In the House, Minority Leader George H. Seibert Jr. (R-Ohio) expressed disappointment that the majority Democrats had decided to attack unemployment in, as Seibert saw it, "a most meager way."

Seibert also was displeased that the program which the Democrats have decided to sponsor ignores an Underwood recommendation as to the consumers' sales tax. To give tax relief to low-income and no-income groups, Underwood had proposed that food be exempted from the tax and that the rate on other items be raised from 2 to 3 per cent.

Palestine Strike Ends With New Agreement

EAST PALESTINE — Union acceptance of hospitalization and pension provisions of a new contract at the Adamson Manufacturing Co. cleared the way for the return of some 90 employes at the E. Clark St. plant today, ending a six-day strike.

Officials of the United Steel Workers approved the contract proposal Tuesday afternoon, and the members of Local 1499 accepted it in a 95 per cent vote early last night.

The contract calls for establishment of a pension plan, and company payment of hospitalization, heretofore paid by the workers. Estimated cost of the fringe benefit package is 16-18 cents an hour.

A requested 7½-cent hourly pay increase will be discussed in negotiations to be held next December, according to settlement terms.

Ike To Speak In Los Angeles

Coast-To-Coast Dinners Kick Off GOP Bid Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower joins other top Republicans tonight in a coast-to-coast kickoff of the party's campaign for victory in the November elections.

Eisenhower will speak at a fund-raising dinner in Los Angeles, one of more than 80 such rallies to be held simultaneously in cities across the nation. The President arranged to leave nearby Andrews Air Force Base by jet airliner and stop at Denver en route to Los Angeles.

The Republican National Committee is calling the cross-country political tub - thumping "Dinner With Ike."

All of the affairs will be linked on a closed television circuit for 30 to 40 minutes starting at 10 p.m. Eastern standard time. In addition to Eisenhower, the private telecast will feature the main speakers at seven other dinners.

They include Vice President Richard M. Nixon, currently a cinch to win the GOP presidential nomination, at Chicago; Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York in Washington; and Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, Republican national chairman, in New York.

On the way, the plane is scheduled to stop 40 minutes in Denver.

Humphrey's Sidestepping Of Ohio Seen

Action Indicated After Senator Has Talk With DiSalle

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota hinted broadly today he is abandoning the possibility of entering the Ohio race for delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

After a breakfast with Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, who is bidding for the role of Ohio favorite son while pledged to Massachusetts Sen. John F. Kennedy, Humphrey told newsmen he will announce his Ohio plans after his return to Washington.

But Humphrey, by emphasizing that he is a "party organization man," practically took himself out of the Ohio race for delegates. The Minnesota senator acknowledged DiSalle and State Democratic Chairman William L. Coleman as organization leaders in Ohio—and they are working at present for Sen. Kennedy.

"My feeling," Humphrey told newsmen, "is that when the Wisconsin primary is over (April 5) and I have won, I would like to return to Ohio and meet with some of the state's political leaders."

Humphrey and Kennedy clash head-on in the Wisconsin primary in what many political observers regard as an important test of strength for each.

Both Humphrey and DiSalle asserted the Minnesotan made no request for a second-choice commitment at the convention should Kennedy's bid for the nomination falted.

DiSalle added: "We have made no commitment beyond Kennedy and do not intend to do so. It would be a futile thing on our part to guess now what the situation at the convention might be should Sen. Kennedy withdraw."

"That is most reassuring to me," Humphrey said of DiSalle's statement that there has been no second-choice commitment. "This is the way it ought to be."

DiSalle emphasized there was no attempt to discourage Humphrey from entering the Ohio race.

Humphrey said he was delaying his formal announcement of his Ohio intentions "out of respect for some people who have been working with me." He added he wants to confer with a couple of men in Washington before his announcement.

Mistrial Move Denied 6 In Stolen Gun Case

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Visiting Judge Roger T. Foley of Las Vegas, Nev., Tuesday denied a motion for a mistrial in the case of six defendants charged with conspiring to transport stolen weapons to Cuban rebels.

The mistrial motion was based on government testimony that linked former Cuban President Carlos Prio in U. S. District Court with one of the defendants, Joseph Merola of Miami, Fla.

George Fraser of Butler, Pa., testified that he saw Merola and Victor Carlucci of New Kensington, Pa., together at a New Kensington night club in the fall of 1958.

Police Hunt Suspect In New Jersey

Doctor's Wife One Of Those Slain After Being Tied In Room

NORTH BRUNSWICK, N.J., (AP)—A red and black taxicab, used as the getaway car by the slayer of four persons in a doctor's home, was found nearly 25 miles away in Elizabeth early today.

The cab was abandoned a few blocks from the Newark line before 5 a.m. Police had seen nothing in the residential area while on a routine patrol an hour earlier.

Newark and Elizabeth police immediately swarmed about the area looking for a man fitting the description of the slayer. A police alarm had said he was about 35.

His victims were three women and a man, found in the large white mansion of Dr. Francis M. Clarke, a prominent surgeon. All had been shot through the left temple.

The slayer's identity and his motive remained a mystery.

The taxicab was taken to the Elizabeth police garage, where it was dusted for fingerprints.

About an hour after it was found a man fitting the description of the unknown suspect was picked up drunk in Elizabeth.

Police waited to question him further but one detective who spoke to the man said he was a doubtful suspect. The man was not identified.

The trussed - up victims of the multiple shooting included the doctor's invalid wife, two women servants, and a stranger to the home, a Newark cab driver.

The three women were Edith Clarke, in her 60s, wife of Dr. Francis Clarke; a maid, Cora Thaddies, 29; and Dorothy Moore, Mrs. Clarke's elderly housekeeper and companion.

Their bodies were found side by side on a narrow bed in Mrs. Clarke's room. They had been tied hand and foot with belts, ties and strips of cloth.

The cab driver, Morris Michael, 58, of Newark, was in another bedroom on the second floor, his body covered by a sheet.

The only clues were the mysterious passenger in the cab and a handful of .32 caliber shells.

The motive?

"I wish I knew," said Middlesex County Prosecutor Warren T. Wilentz.

Church Loses Battle To Halt Liquor Permit

Ohio Top Court Says Lone Protest From Pastor Isn't Enough

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Objections must be supported by substantial evidence to block a liquor license for a tavern less than 500 feet from a church, the Ohio Supreme Court held today.

The 5-2 decision reversed lower court decisions affirming state refusal to issue a night club permit for the C. and O. Restaurant only 325 feet from the First Church of The Nazarene in Fostoria. The restaurant previously was licensed to sell beer.

At a hearing by the liquor director on the application for a night club permit, only the minister of the church lodged objections. His reasons were general opposition of the church to all intoxicating liquor traffic and probably decrease in the value of nearby church property being remodeled for a grade school.

Strike Called At Treadwell; Talks Slated

50 Idled At Midland Concern As Contract Extension Expires

Some 50 employes of the Treadwell Construction Co. of Midland, who are members of Local 1274, United Steelworkers, went on strike at midnight after the termination of a contract extension.

A meeting between company officials and union representatives will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. in the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service offices in the Clark Building in Pittsburgh, Joe Krivan, union staff representative at Midland, said.

Heading negotiations for the union will be Dale Kibble of East Liverpool, Local 1274 president, and Krivan and Carl Beck, also a union staff representative at Midland.

Krivan said the strike occurred after the company refused to agree to another extension of the old contract and that the men will not work without a contract.

Curves Return At Night

Shapeless Look Features Fashions By House Of Dior

PARIS (AP)—The house of Dior handed another surprise to the fashion world today.

Dresses displayed at the spring and summer show erased bust, waist and hips. Knees were covered, but barely.

Said the duchess of Windsor of the latest creation by young Yves St. Laurent, Dior's heir: "Oh, I think it's wonderful!"

But after being shapeless all day, Dior's women are supposed to get curvy, vampish bosoms, high, small waistlines and sometimes even hip curves for the evening.

Actually most of the formals are loose-lined, too.

Designer Saint-Laurent calls it all "the silhouette of tomorrow." But there are echoes of yesterday, particularly of the trapeze line on which the young dressmaker swung daringly high on his debut two years ago.

The sack, tent and chemise are all there with a difference.

Basically the silhouette flares out roundly from bust to short hemline.

Applause followed the models from early in the show, and grew in enthusiasm with the evening clothes.

There are short jackets, long jackets, and tunic jackets. Necklines are collarless and scooped out. Suit sleeves are loose three-

West Virginian Pushes Bill For Uniform Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Harley O. Staggers (D-WVa) has high hopes of getting congressional action this year on his bill that would provide for uniform time all the time.

It's high time, Staggers said, that Congress take some action to eliminate what he called a widespread pattern of confusion in the varied use of daylight saving time.

Staggers said the House Interstate Committee has promised a hearing on his proposal — offered again this year after eight previous tries. His bill would provide that the standard time within the respective time zones would be the measure of time for all purposes.

There would still be provision for setting daylight time each summer, but it would be uniform, Staggers said.

"I am not seeking to oppose daylight time," he said. "If it's the concensus that there should be daylight time then Congress can set that up. But the time should be uniform."

Mistrial Move Denied 6 In Stolen Gun Case

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Visiting Judge Roger T. Foley of Las Vegas, Nev., Tuesday denied a motion for a mistrial in the case of six defendants charged with conspiring to transport stolen weapons to Cuban rebels.

The mistrial motion was based on government testimony that linked former Cuban President Carlos Prio in U. S. District Court with one of the defendants, Joseph Merola of Miami, Fla.

George Fraser of Butler, Pa., testified that he saw Merola and Victor Carlucci of New Kensington, Pa., together at a New Kensington night club in the fall of 1958.

California Firm Now Main Shenango Owner

NEW CASTLE — More than 90 per cent of the outstanding shares in the Shenango China Co., Inc. have been purchased by Bowman & Long of Sacramento, Calif., George B. Zahniser, Shenango president, said today.

Zahniser said there would be no change of management, policy or product. The deal was transacted through the Commonwealth Trust Co. of Pittsburgh.

Police Hunt Suspect In New Jersey

Doctor's Wife One Of Those Slain After Being Tied In Room

NORTH BRUNSWICK, N.J., (AP)—A red and black taxicab, used as the getaway car by the slayer of four persons in a doctor's home, was found nearly 25 miles away in Elizabeth early today.

The cab was abandoned a few blocks from the Newark line before 5 a.m. Police had seen nothing in the residential area while on a routine patrol an hour earlier.

Newark and Elizabeth police immediately swarmed about the area looking for a man fitting the description of the slayer. A police alarm had said he was about 35.

His victims were three women and a man, found in the large white mansion of Dr. Francis M. Clarke, a prominent surgeon. All had been shot through the left temple.

The slayer's identity and his motive remained a mystery.

The taxicab was taken to the Elizabeth police garage, where it was dusted for fingerprints.

About an hour after it was found a man fitting the description of the unknown suspect was picked up drunk in Elizabeth.

Police waited to question him further but one detective who spoke to the man said he was a doubtful suspect. The man was not identified.

The trussed - up victims of the multiple shooting included the doctor's invalid wife, two women servants, and a stranger to the home, a Newark cab driver.

The three women were Edith Clarke, in her 60s, wife of Dr. Francis Clarke; a maid, Cora Thaddies, 29; and Dorothy Moore, Mrs. Clarke's elderly housekeeper and companion.

Their bodies were found side by side on a narrow bed in Mrs. Clarke's room. They had been tied hand and foot with belts, ties and strips of cloth.

The cab driver, Morris Michael, 58, of Newark, was in another bedroom on the second floor, his body covered by a sheet.

The only clues were the mysterious passenger in the cab and a handful of .32 caliber shells.

The motive?

"I wish I knew," said Middlesex County Prosecutor Warren T. Wilentz.

Church Loses Battle To Halt Liquor Permit

Ohio Top Court Says Lone Protest From Pastor Isn't Enough

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Objections must be supported by substantial evidence to block a liquor license for a tavern less than 500 feet from a church, the Ohio Supreme Court held today.

The 5-2 decision reversed lower court decisions affirming state refusal to issue a night club permit for the C. and O. Restaurant only 325 feet from the First Church of The Nazarene in Fostoria. The restaurant previously was licensed to sell beer.

At a hearing by the liquor director on the application for a night club permit, only the minister of the church lodged objections. His reasons were general opposition of the church to all intoxicating liquor traffic and probably decrease in the value of nearby church property being remodeled for a grade school.

Strike Called At Treadwell; Talks Slated

50 Idled At Midland Concern As Contract Extension Expires

Some 50 employes of the Treadwell Construction Co. of Midland, who are members of Local 1274, United Steelworkers, went on strike at midnight after the termination of a contract extension.

A meeting between company officials and union representatives will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. in the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service offices in the Clark Building in Pittsburgh, Joe Krivan, union staff representative at Midland, said.

Heading negotiations for the union will be Dale Kibble of East Liverpool, Local 1274 president, and Krivan and Carl Beck, also a union staff representative at Midland.

Krivan said the strike occurred after the company refused to agree to another extension of the old contract and that the men will not work without a contract.

Curves Return At Night

Shapeless Look Features Fashions By House Of Dior

PARIS (AP)—The house of Dior handed another surprise to the fashion world today.

Dresses displayed at the spring and summer show erased bust, waist and hips. Knees were covered, but barely.

Said the duchess of Windsor of the latest creation by young Yves St. Laurent, Dior's heir: "Oh, I think it's wonderful!"

But after being shapeless all day, Dior's women are supposed to get curvy, vampish bosoms, high, small waistlines and sometimes even hip curves for the evening.

Actually most of the formals are loose-lined, too.

Designer Saint-Laurent calls it all "the silhouette of tomorrow." But there are echoes of yesterday, particularly of the trapeze line on which the young dressmaker swung daringly high on his debut two years ago.

The sack, tent and chemise are all there with a difference.

Basically the silhouette flares out roundly from bust to short hemline.

Applause followed the models from early in the show, and grew in enthusiasm with the evening clothes.

There are short jackets, long jackets, and tunic jackets. Necklines are collarless and scooped out. Suit sleeves are loose three-

West Virginian Pushes Bill For Uniform Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Harley O. Staggers (D-WVa) has high hopes of getting congressional action this year on his bill that would provide for uniform time all the time.

It's high time, Staggers said, that Congress take some action to eliminate what he called a widespread pattern of confusion in the varied use of daylight saving time.

Staggers said the House Interstate Committee has promised a hearing on his proposal — offered again this year after eight previous tries. His bill would provide that the standard time within the respective time zones would be the measure of time for all purposes.

There would still be provision for setting daylight time each summer, but it would be uniform, Staggers said.

"I am not seeking to oppose daylight time," he said. "If it's the concensus that there should be daylight time then Congress can set that up. But the time should be uniform."

Still In The Picture

The memory of John Foster Dulles was evoked last week when Maj. Gen. Barksdale Hamlett, former U.S. military commander in Berlin, told a new York audience that the United States must live on the brink of war or bow to communism.

"Brinksmanship" was one of the most famed labels applied to the late secretary of state. His definition of it — a temporary maneuver in a particular situation—differed slightly from Gen. Hamlett's, which implies a permanent way of life.

BUT BASICALLY they were talking about the same thing: The West's best hope against communism is to show the Reds it is as willing to fight against their onslaughts as they are to stage them.

The present Soviet "peace offensive" can be laid at least in part to that stern attitude as reflected in the policies of Secretary Dulles. And, Gen. Hamlett warns, that attitude must be maintained during Red peace offensives as well as during Red temper tantrums.

"We don't live in a world of fairy godmothers where ugly basts can be turned into Prince Charmings," the general said. Nikita Khrushchev may be talking about peaceful cooperation, and he may really want a period of peaceful cooperation so he can devote his attentions to pressing domestic problems. But underlying everything else he does is his long-range goal of Marxist conquest of the entire world.

Thus, if the Kremlin boss were to succeed in conning the West into pulling out of Berlin, he would have consolidated Central Europe without a fight and could move on to consolidate all of Western Europe. That would leave America free to "dig deep holes" in which to hide, Gen. Hamlett said.

ON THE OTHER HAND, the commander said, "as long as we are in Berlin with the status quo, we are still winning." For as long as Mr. Khrushchev thinks we will fight to keep the status quo in Berlin, he will have to delay his plans to consolidate all of Europe.

This is the thought that all Westerners must keep in the back of their minds during summit conferences and exchanges of visits and other efforts to promote world stability.

We can make the most of apparent Communist willingness to talk about cooperation but we must not make the mistake of being lulled into thinking the Communists always mean what they say.

The Double War In Algeria

Algeria, the straw that broke the back of France's weak Fourth Republic, has become a critical situation again and, except for the fact that Charles de Gaulle is now in the driver's seat in Paris, it appears to be as far from solution as ever.

The iron-willed general has brought stability to France's home political scene, mainly because the French people were as sick of their Fourth Republic's political shenanigans as everybody else was and they, therefore, have supported his virtual one-man rule as the best cure for what ailed them.

But Algeria has not changed. The problem that confronts the De Gaulle regime there is the same one that confronted his predecessor regimes.

It is a double war. The enemy in one war is the nationalist rebel leadership which wants to throw off the rule of the French. The enemy in the other war is the body of Europeans who consider Algeria their home but do not want to change the status quo.

When the Paris regime is not fighting the one, it must fight the other. Either way, it loses ground. The forces which have been battling the nationalist rebels now have been pulled back to Algiers to try to quell the rioting rightists who object to Gen. De Gaulle's plan for self-determination for Algeria.

To make the problem still more complex, the rebels and the Europeans in Algeria sometimes agree with each other even while hating each other. The rebel leaders want self-determination, but they do not like the De Gaulle plan for bringing it about any more than the rightists do.

As it has had to do all along, the rest of the world can only wait and see what happens next. If anyone in France is capable of solving the Algerian problem, Charles de Gaulle is the man. He has a statesman's devotion to his country, plus courage, patience and tremendous holding power.

But Algeria may be beyond the capabilities of even the venerable general.

If he fails to bring about a solution, everyone involved may as well throw up his hands in despair. The blood-letting in Algeria will have to continue until there is no more blood to let.

Nationalization And The British Railmen

Socialism's defenders are going to be on a real spot about Feb. 1 if British railroad workers proceed, as they say they will, with plans to publicize their protest of wage scales by staging a 24-hour wildcat strike.

What will be embarrassing for the welfare staters is that the railmen have a case that practically nobody is arguing against. They get about $19.60 for a six-day week and their pension possibilities after retirement are practically nil. The only thing that keeps the rail system running now is overtime, according to the famed newspaper columnist, Cassandra.

Another newspaper has reported that railroad pay is about 17 per cent below that of other industries.

The trouble is that 12 years after the railroads were nationalized by Laborite Clement Attlee's government, they are still in grim financial condition. The government-directed modernization policy is expensive and the former stockholders still have to be reimbursed for their expropriated investments. Although freight tonnage has risen, the increase is not enough to cover the higher costs. No financial surplus is anticipated until at least 1963.

Consequently nobody knows where the money would come from to pay for the rail workers' wage hike, no matter how deserved it may be.

This is the situation resulting from the socialism espoused by the British Labor party to make life better for everybody, especially the poor workingman.

It is typical of the long-term questions raised by nationalization that the welfare staters so far have been unable to answer.

Encouraging Report

The annual report of the Carnegie Public Library was an encouraging one.

When more books are distributed it stands to reason that more books are being read and more knowledge assimilated. All the other figures in the report were encouraging, too.

The apparent mental upsurge goes well with the physical improvements which have been made at the library during the last few years.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Nikita Khrushchev's son has sent a collection of butterflies to an American collector in a butterfly-exchange program. It arrived about the same time as the giant Russian missile in the Pacific. (This wasn't giving the butterflies an even break.)

It is hard to think of Russian missiles, bombs, fantastic weapons, possible destruction of the enemy, etc., giving way to butterflies.

Probably it happened in a family dinner discussion something like this:

Son: Now about those things to be sent overseas.

Khrushchv: Missiles and notes?

Son: No, butterflies.

Khrushchev: What butterflies?

Son: Remember when we were in New York a collector gave me some American specimens and I promised to reciprocate?

Khrushchev: I recall you mentioned butterflies but I was busy with armaments discussions, West Berlin, etc. But your idea is good. I can see the headlines now . . . "U.S.S.R. FOR PEACE THROUGH BUTTERFLIES." It shows the Russian people would not harm a fly, especially one with beautiful wings. Are the specimens up to the U.S.S.R. high standard?

Son: I am sending only specimens from the European area and Crimea, which don't differ much from the Free World types.

Khrushchev: It won't do to admit we don't surpass the Free World in butterflies. What types are you sending?

Son: A few "Tiger Swallowtails," an "Ajax some "Peacocks", and a wonderful "Monarch."

Khrushchev: Monarch! I despise the word. Throw it out and put in an extra Ajax.

Son: Okay, Dad. Our best specimens came from other Russian regions but I could get them fast enough.

Khrushchev: (violently) That does it. We must investigate the U.S.S.R. minister in charge of butterflies at once. If there is any slowdown in the butterfly bureau, off he will go to Outer Mongolia!

Reds Start U.S. Membership Drive

By Victo r Riesel

On the morning of Jan. 15 there flashed across the United States a call for a sweeping revolution. With machinegun swiftness, wild words spouted from a Cuban radio station.

Victor Riesel

"No matter how monstrous the idea may seem to the weak in spirit, no matter how daring the idea may seem to the coward, we believe t h a t the United States needs a good revolution to completely sweep away that bunch of prejudices that weighs on North American reality.

"We believe that a good revolution is needed to do away with the imperialist and colonialist mentality of certain exploiting castes . . .

"It is necessary that a popular commotion take place from coast to coast in the United States to destroy forever ... the bad seed of anti-Communism — the anti-Communism that the United States exports in great quantities as if it were insecticide powder ..."

Okay, we could kid this one. Sort of slough it off with something like "arise, ye prisoners of starvation" diets, you have nothing to lose but your calories and you have too many of them anyway.

BUT DON'T JEST. That broadcast swept into the United States in Spanish. It rang with fiery intensity.

It could have been heard by millions of Spanish - speaking Cuban and Puerto Rican folks all along the East Coast and at inland points, too. The words were as real and tough as the beards on Dr. Castro's gunslinging comrades.

There is no insinuation here that anyone should throw armed patrols around powerhouses and rail depots. But that broadcast incited to riot just at a moment when a five-man American Communist party politburo was putting the finishing touches on its new membership recruiting drive.

That Communist high command, though it operates out of 23 West 26th St., New York City, was named man for man in Moscow by the American section of the Soviet Communist party's Central Committee apparatus. That five-man American Communist praesidium was told by Soviet agents here to produce a 10 per cent increase in membership by May 1.

It was J. Edgar Hoover's scientificlly trained FBI "Communist desk" which was recently the authority for the details of this organization drive. As Mr. Hoover reported it to the government, the Communist party, U.S.A. is now about to launch this membership campaign.

It will be conducted mostly in the areas of America's lowest paid working people — and those are the Puerto Rican communities in the slums of the big Eastern cities.

Though it is little recognized, there live among the newcomers from our island territory tens of thousands of Cubans. These too the Communist party seeks.

This membership campaign is a rigidly imposed, skillfully devised assault on the needs and yearnings of our low income neighbors. The American politburo has been told by its contact from Moscow to have all its organizing plans action-ready by Jan. 31. That's next week, comrades.

Each party district has, in turn, been alerted to send its specific plans to West 26th St., New York City.

Each member of the party's national committee must adopt a personal quota of new recruits. Each p a r t y club must adopt a quota. Each national officer has now been staked out in a specific district to direct the regional recruitment drive.

In each area there must be new training schools to indoctrinate the new members.

All this is reported here not as an alert to all Main streets, U.S.A., to convert their bird watching teams into counter - revolutionary spies. No one is going to seize the mint or the Internal Revenue Service.

This is chronicled with the specifics of time, place and wordage to prove that the Soviets are interfering in America's internal affairs and that they are inciting to riot. In the U.S. the man who is directing the party's invasion of labor is a Soviet agent, a forger of passports and a Lenin University saboteur specialist by the name of Irving Potash.

Is it unreasonable to ask Chairman Khrushchev to keep his word and not meddle in our nation? He did promise.

Democrats Fire Away

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

The Democrats, like a bunch of cowboys in a shooting gallery, are blazing away in three directions at what will probably be their main targets for the whole presidential campaign.

1. President Eisenhower — with the complaint he's been a poor leader.

2. His administration—with the complaint of things left undone.

3. Vice President Richard M. Nixon—with various charges ranging from "quackery" to me-too-ism.

Trouble is, the Democrats can't even guess, this early in the year, which target may pay off with the big cigar — in this case the presidency — and which would blow up in their faces.

Picking on Eisenhower, still enormously popular after seven years in the White House, may be a waste of time if the public continues to hold him in high regard.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) frankly looking for the Democratic presidential nomination, opened the attack on Eisenhower with the statement his administration's performance, or the lack of it, is the real campaign issue.

But last Saturday night, at a big Democratic get-together here, the emphasis shifted to Nixon who was tagged as a "juvenile delinquent" and a "slicker" and the "able, agile, Sir Richard the nimble."

Even attacking Nixon—and before the year is out the Democrats will probably be a lot rougher on him — could backfire by creating broad public sympathy for him as a martyr.

If Nixon has any ideas of making a free-wheeling campaign of it, he is a bit handcuffed. He is almost certain to get the Republican nomination. He'll get Eisenhower's support.

Because of that support and because he has been part and parcel of the whole administration, he'll hardly be in a position to be critical or promise anything very different.

This situation may force him into promising more of the same. That might be enough to win for him if the voters want more of the same.

It's possible that Democratic attacks on him may so irritate him that he will lose self-control and make mistakes through bad temper, damaging himself more than the Democrats could.

Since he knows all the dangers of this, and is a shrewd politician, he has plenty of time to prepare himself against temper tantrums. He doesn't have to say much until the campaign starts anyway.

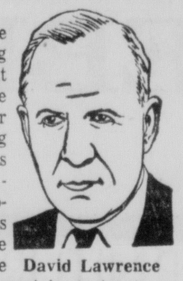
Defense Endangered

By David Lawrence

Are Mercenary Interests Creeping In?

What is back of all the fuss and controversy about America's defense program and what of the outcry that "the Soviets are ahead of us"?



David Lawrence

H i n t s have b e e n coming out lately that n o t all t h e pressure f o r more spending on defense is e m a n a t ing from objective sources but from some with a definite mercenary interest in contracts or from members of the armed forces who naturally want to see more money spent on their own services.

Who feeds out or leaks to the press technical information and appraisals to give the impression that America is falling down on the defense job?

Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, made a significant observation the other day while testifying before the H o u s e subcommittee on defense appropriations. He said:

"The only way we can deal with this fellow (the Soviet) is not to tell him how deficient we are today; we are prone to do this at times, because it gets us more money. It is the democratic system and I am not bucking it but I think it is very dangerous."

IN THE SAME HEARINGS, Rep. Jamie L. Whitten, addressing Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates, said:

"So many vested interests get involved in this situation that it is mighty hard to make military decisions completely objectively. I am sure I do not as a member of this committee get one one-hundredth or one one-thousandth of the pressure you do but with military spending in eve. state and in nearly every district, with the immediate economy of that area wrapped around it, a great problem is presented.

"I do not have any military installations in my district, so I do not have the problem but if I did have and if you set out to close such an establishment, I am sure I, too, would have many of the pople there wanting to continue it.

"Since over half the national budget is involved and since the Defense Department makes a determination as to what facilities are going to be closed and which major companies are going to get contracts, it becomes highly imperative, if I am right about the inflationary results of d e f e n s e spending — and particularly that expenditure for which we get no real defense — that these things be looked at completely objectively."

Mr. Whitten then referred to the investigation last year, conducted by a House committee under the leadership of Rep. F. Edward Hebert, Democrat of Louisiana, which called on the Defense Department to furnish a list of retired officers of high rank who were working for military contractors. Mr. Whitten asked that the list be printed in the record together with the report, which said in part:

"The committee is seriously concerned over problems which arise as a result of the acceptance by retired senior officers of employment in responsible executive positions with defense contractors."

Now, it is natural for companies engaged in defense work to seek the knowledge and experience in technical matters possessed by retired military men. But do these men confine themselves always to such duties or do they furnish the press information designed to help their companies get more contracts? These are questions related to the whole problem studied by the investigating committee.

IT IS CURIOUS but the statements made by our highest military officers are constantly sniped at in the press and by the politicians and the impression is given that these same officials w o u l d weaken America's defenses. Statements, moreover, by our authorized spokesmen do not get the prominence they deserve. Secretary of Defense Gates, for instance, made this statement a few days ago before the House subcommittee:

"There is no question that the Soviet Union is a formidanle power. It has made tremendous progress since the end of World War II in developing not only its military but also its economic strength and will make continued progress in the future. But the impression in some quarters that the Soviet Union has overtaken or even outdistanced the U n i t e d States in military power is simply not supported by the facts. . . .

"We must be ever cautious not to underestimate t h e military strength of possible opponents but it does not contribute to our national security to overestimate their military strength. It can be dangerous to our national security and our position in the world to allow a false impression to gain ground that the United States is second to the Soviet Union.

"The same holds true with respect to our relative economic strengths. While the Soviet Union since the end of World War II has made great progress in developing its economy, the United States is still far ahead by virtually any measure of e c o n o m i c strength."

HOW MANY CITIZENS read the text of that statement by the secretary of defense, released last wek?

How many persons, on the other hand, read the sniping remarks of the politicians who are quibbling about appraisals based on Soviet "intentions" as contrasted with "capabilities"?

The United States has the power to deter an enemy. Its own retaliatory power extends to bases overseas as well as to missile-carrying aircraft carriers and submarines that rove the seas.

Maybe the Soviets are ahead in certain categories of weapons but it is over-all power that counts.

Russia would be destroyed if it attackedt he United States because it cannot at any time possibly have enough missiles to destroy at the same time all bases in this country, all Allied bases overseas and all the mobile bases of our Navy.

Fear of retaliation that can be massively destructive is what deters an enemy.

The United States is interested in the sum total of deterrent power and today has adequate strength to do the job. This assertion is based on the statements of the President of the United States, who is himself a military man and of the secretary of defense and of the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Letter To The Editor

You have, no doubt, been reading over the years the hard luck story of foreign competition of pottery ware, glass, and a few more items.

Well, the answer has always been, we are a small industry, and it made very little difference. But now, some larger industries are having to swallow the same bitter pill that we have been taking for a number of years.

I had the privilege of attending a meeting in Washington Jan. 14 on imports and exports. It is too bad the general public did not get to hear some of the speakers at this meeting.

Now, who is getting hurt? The steel industry, automobile, cotton, the farmer, wheat and meat in particular, and so many more it would be impossible to tell you about all of them.

If you did not read Victor Riesel in Saturday's Review, I suggest that you look up this article and read what he has to say about men's suits that are being made in Japan. Japan has only sold 30,000 of these suits so far, but has on file orders for 300,000 to be shipped to the United States. You and I may say there is no textile factories here, or we don't work in a textile plant, but if tens of thousands of workers are forced out of their jobs, and they are all potential buyers of dishes and other commodities manufactured in our vicinity, very soon we are all going to be in the same boat.

We also may say we don't do any farming, so why should we be bothered about wheat. Well, here is why. For each bushel of wheat we sell to foreign countries, our government pays 65 cents subsidy. On each pound of cotton, 8 cents is paid of our tax dollar. So, whether we are the butcher, baker, or the candlestick-maker, it should be some of our affair. Bread went up one cent per loaf last week, and we have so much wheat in our storage bins we don't know what to do with it. How do you figure that? Don't get me wrong. I know we must have trade, but we can't have a one-way street. It must work both ways. The commodities we need, we should buy, sure, but to buy and buy things we have in abundance, no.

Now, what are we to do about this matter? Here is what you and I cna do, and here is what you and I had better do. Write to our s e n a t o r s and congressmen in Washington, D. C. Tell them exactly how we feel about t h i s question. There is no better time to do it — this being an election year.

The oil industry has a quota on imports of oil by using the escape clause in the Reciprocal T r a d e Agreement. Why should they be different from us? If we do our part by writing our senators and congressmen, they will not be.

Let's go! Let's write as individuals or by petitions.

Still In The Picture

The memory of John Foster Dulles was evoked last week when Maj. Gen. Barksdale Hamlett, former U.S. military commander in Berlin, told a new York audience that the United States must live on the brink of war or bow to communism.

"Brinksmanship" was one of the most famed labels applied to the late secretary of state. His definition of it — a temporary maneuver in a particular situation—differed slightly from Gen. Hamlett's, which implies a permanent way of life.

BUT BASICALLY they were talking about the same thing: The West's best hope against communism is to show the Reds it is as willing to fight against their onslaughts as they are to stage them.

The present Soviet "peace offensive" can be laid at least in part to that stern attitude as reflected in the policies of Secretary Dulles. And, Gen. Hamlett warns, that attitude must be maintained during Red peace offensives as well as during Red temper tantrums.

"We don't live in a world of fairy godmothers where ugly basts can be turned into Prince Charmings," the general said. Nikita Khrushchev may be talking about peaceful cooperation, and he may really want a period of peaceful cooperation so he can devote his attentions to pressing domestic problems. But underlying everything else he does is his long-range goal of Marxist conquest of the entire world.

Thus, if the Kremlin boss were to succeed in conning the West into pulling out of Berlin, he would have consolidated Central Europe without a fight and could move on to consolidate all of Western Europe. That would leave America free to "dig deep holes" in which to hide, Gen. Hamlett said.

Castro may go down in history as the first man favoring firing squads for anybody asking equal time on the air.

The dime tax on cab fares in New York has been killed. It's been decided there's no justice in making a man pay extra for his nervous strains. Ike asks that there be a cut in prices. But, so far, only Mickey Mantle and Stan Musial come cheaper.

Castro is putting on the wildest TV and radio shows. The recent one in which he heaved a diplomat out from the studio and gave him 24 hours to leave the country suggests new Havana programs, "It Could Be You," and "The Hate, Hate, Hate Show."

Washington says 74 per cent of Americans own one car and 15 per cent have two. The few non-auto owners left had better stay indoors or learn how to live in a tree.

George Alpert, president of New Haven Railroad, is a lawyer and never had any railroad training. Trains may be late but they are sure to be legal. Commuters say information-booth men at some points act on phone calls as if they, too, were attorneys and wanted customers to file briefs before getting answers.

Reds Start U.S. Membership Drive

By Victor Riesel

On the morning of Jan. 15 there flashed across the United States a call for a sweeping revolution. With machinegun swiftness, wild words spouted from a Cuban radio station.

Victor Riesel

"No matter how monstrous the idea may seem to the weak in spirit, no matter how daring the idea may seem to the coward, we believe that the United States needs a good revolution to completely sweep away that bunch of prejudices that weighs on North American reality.

"We believe that a good revolution is needed to do away with the imperialist and colonialist mentality of certain exploiting castes . . .

"It is necessary that a popular commotion take place from coast to coast in the United States to destroy forever ... the bad seed of anti-Communism — the anti-Communism that the United States exports in great quantities as if it were insecticide powder ..."

Okay, we could kid this one. Sort of slough it off with something like "arise, ye prisoners of starvation" diets, you have nothing to lose but your calories and you have too many of them anyway.

BUT DON'T JEST. That broadcast swept into the United States in Spanish. It rang with fiery intensity.

It could have been heard by millions of Spanish - speaking Cuban and Puerto Rican folks all along the East Coast and at inland points, too. The words were as real and tough as the beards on Dr. Castro's gunslinging comrades.

There is no insinuation here that anyone should throw armed patrols around powerhouses and rail depots. But that broadcast incited to riot just at a moment when a five-man American Communist party politburo was putting the finishing touches on its new membership recruiting drive.

That Communist high command, though it operates out of 23 West 26th St., New York City, was named man for man in Moscow by the American section of the Soviet Communist party's Central Committee apparatus. That five-man American Communist praesidium was told by Soviet agents here to produce a 10 per cent increase in membership by May 1.

It was J. Edgar Hoover's scientificly trained FBI "Communist desk" which was recently the authority for the details of this organization drive. As Mr. Hoover reported it to the government, the Communist party, U.S.A. is now about to launch this membership campaign.

It will be conducted mostly in the areas of America's lowest paid working people — and those are the Puerto Rican communities in the slums of the big Eastern cities.

Though it is little recognized, there live among the newcomers from our island territory tens of thousands of Cubans. These too the Communist party seeks.

This membership campaign is a rigidly imposed, skillfully devised assault on the needs and yearnings of our low income neighbors. The American politburo has been told by its contact from Moscow to have all its organizing plans action-ready by Jan. 31. That's next week, comrades.

Each party district has, in turn, been alerted to send its specific plans to West 26th St., New York City.

Each member of the party's national committee must adopt a personal quota of new recruits. Each party club must adopt a quota. Each national officer has now been staked out in a specific district to direct the regional recruitment drive.

In each area there must be new training schools to indoctrinate the new members.

All this is reported here not as an alert to all Main streets, U.S.A., to convert their bird watching teams into counter - revolutionary spies. No one is going to seize the mint or the Internal Revenue Service.

This is chronicled with the specifics of time, place and wordage to prove that the Soviets are interfering in America's internal affairs and that they are inciting to riot. In the U.S. the man who is directing the party's invasion of labor is a Soviet agent, a forger of passports and a Lenin University saboteur specialist by the name of Irving Potash.

Is it unreasonable to ask Chairman Khrushchev to keep his word and not meddle in our nation? He did promise.

Democrats Fire Away

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

The Democrats, like a bunch of cowboys in a shooting gallery, are blazing away in three directions at what will probably be their main targets for the whole presidential campaign.

1. President Eisenhower — with the complaint he's been a poor leader.

2. His administration—with the complaint of things left undone.

3. Vice President Richard M. Nixon—with various charges ranging from "quackery" to me-too-ism.

Trouble is, the Democrats can't even guess, this early in the year, which target may pay off with the big cigar — in this case the presidency — and which would blow up in their faces.

Picking on Eisenhower, still enormously popular after seven years in the White House, may be a waste of time if the public continues to hold him in high regard.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) frankly looking for the Democratic presidential nomination, opened the attack on Eisenhower with the statement his administration's performance, or the lack of it, is the real campaign issue.

But last Saturday night, at a big Democratic get-together here, the emphasis shifted to Nixon who was tagged as a "juvenile delinquent" and a "slicker" and the "able, agile, Sir Richard the nimble."

Even attacking Nixon—and before the year is out the Democrats will probably be a lot rougher on him — could backfire by creating broad public sympathy for him as a martyr.

If Nixon has any ideas of making a free-wheeling campaign of it, he is a bit handcuffed. He is almost certain to get the Republican nomination. He'll get Eisenhower's support.

Because of that support and because he has been part and parcel of the whole administration, he'll hardly be in a position to be critical or promise anything very different.

This situation may force him into promising more of the same. That might be enough to win for him if the voters want more of the same.

It's possible that Democratic attacks on him may so irritate him that he will lose self-control and make mistakes through bad temper, damaging himself more than the Democrats could.

Since he knows all the dangers of this, and is a shrewd politician, he has plenty of time to prepare himself against temper tantrums. He doesn't have to say much until the campaign starts anyway.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — W. E. Wells, Newell pottery executive, was toastmaster during the 14th annual Chamber of Commerce dinner at the Travelers Hotel.

John Williams was elected president of the Salineville Citizens Banking Co.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Emmet H. Wells, last of the grandsons of William Wells, founder of the city of Wellsville, died in Cleveland.

As a gesture of religious friendship, a Presbyterian minister and a student rabbi exchanged pulpits here.

TEN YEARS AGO — Edward L. Millward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Millward of W. 3rd St., received his Bachelor of Arts Degree during mid-term commencement exercises at Westminster College, New Wilmington.

Wellsville's baton twirling ace, Allan Lashley of Broadway, was selected as one of the nation's 301 finer baton artists by the National Baton Twirling Association.

Pleasant Heights School raised $162 to contribute to the polio fund.

Victor Herbert not only wrote his immortal songs, but also did his own arrangements for orchestras to play those songs.

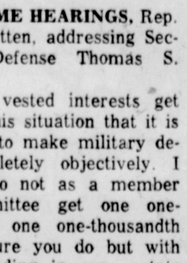
Defense Endangered

By David Lawrence

Are Mercenary Interests Creeping In?

What is back of all the fuss and controversy about America's defense program and what of the outcry that "the Soviets are ahead of us"?



David Lawrence

Hints have been coming out lately that not all the pressure for more spending on defense is emanating from objective sources but from some with a definite mercenary interest in contracts or from members of the armed forces who naturally want to see more money spent on their own services.

Who feeds out or leaks to the press technical information and appraisals to give the impression that America is falling down on the defense job?

Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, made a significant observation the other day while testifying before the House subcommittee on defense appropriations. He said:

"The only way we can deal with this fellow (the Soviet) is not to tell him how deficient we are today; we are prone to do this at times, because it gets us more money. It is the democratic system and I am not bucking it but I think it is very dangerous."

IN THE SAME HEARINGS, Rep. Jamie L. Whitten, addressing Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates, said:

"So many vested interests get involved in this situation that it is mighty hard to make military decisions completely objectively. I am sure I do not as a member of this committee get one one-hundredth or one one-thousandth of the pressure you do but with military spending in eve. state and in nearly every district, with the immediate economy of that area wrapped around it, a great problem is presented.

"I do not have any military installations in my district, so I do not have the problem but if I did have and if you set out to close such an establishment, I am sure I, too, would have many of the pople there wanting to continue it.

"Since over half the national budget is involved and since the Defense Department makes a determination as to what facilities are going to be closed and which major companies are going to get contracts, it becomes highly imperative, if I am right about the inflationary results of defense spending — and particularly that expenditure for which we get no real defense — that these things be looked at completely objectively."

Mr. Whitten then referred to the investigation last year, conducted by a House committee under the leadership of Rep. F. Edward Hebert, Democrat of Louisiana, which called on the Defense Department to furnish a list of retired officers of high rank who were working for military contractors. Mr. Whitten asked that the list be printed in the record together with the report, which said in part:

"The committee is seriously concerned over problems which arise as a result of the acceptance by retired senior officers of employment in responsible executive positions with defense contractors."

Now, it is natural for companies engaged in defense work to seek the knowledge and experience in technical matters possessed by retired military men. But do these men confine themselves always to such duties or do they furnish the press information designed to help their companies get more contracts? These are questions related to the whole problem studied by the investigating committee.

IT IS CURIOUS but the statements made by our highest military officers are constantly sniped at in the press and by the politicians and the impression is given that these same officials would weaken America's defenses. Statements, moreover, by our authorized spokesmen do not get the prominence they deserve. Secretary of Defense Gates, for instance, made this statement a few days ago before the House subcommittee:

"There is no question that the Soviet Union is a formidanle power. It has made tremendous progress since the end of World War II in developing not only its military but also its economic strength and will make continued progress in the future. But the impression in some quarters that the Soviet Union has overtaken or even outdistanced the United States in military power is simply not supported by the facts. . . .

"We must be ever cautious not to underestimate the military strength of possible opponents but it does not contribute to our national security to overestimate their military strength. It can be dangerous to our national security and our position in the world to allow a false impression to gain ground that the United States is second to the Soviet Union.

"The same holds true with respect to our relative economic strengths. While the Soviet Union since the end of World War II has made great progress in developing its economy, the United States is still far ahead by virtually any measure of economic strength."

HOW MANY CITIZENS read the text of that statement by the secretary of defense, released last wek?

How many persons, on the other hand, read the sniping remarks of the politicians who are quibbling about appraisals based on Soviet "intentions" as contrasted with "capabilities"?

The United States has the power to deter an enemy. Its own retaliatory power extends to bases overseas as well as to missile-carrying aircraft carriers and submarines that rove the seas.

Maybe the Soviets are ahead in certain categories of weapons but it is over-all power that counts.

Russia would be destroyed if it attackedt he United States because it cannot at any time possibly have enough missiles to destroy at the same time all bases in this country, all Allied bases overseas and all the mobile bases of our Navy.

Fear of retaliation that can be massively destructive is what deters an enemy.

The United States is interested in the sum total of deterrent power and today has adequate strength to do the job. This assertion is based on the statements of the President of the United States, who is himself a military man and of the secretary of defense and of the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Letter To The Editor

You have, no doubt, been reading over the years the hard luck story of foreign competition of pottery ware, glass, and a few more items.

Well, the answer has always been, we are a small industry, and it made very little difference. But now, some larger industries are having to swallow the same bitter pill that we have been taking for a number of years.

I had the privilege of attending a meeting in Washington Jan. 14 on imports and exports. It is too bad the general public did not get to hear some of the speakers at this meeting.

Now, who is getting hurt? The steel industry, automobile, cotton, the farmer, wheat and meat in particular, and so many more it would be impossible to tell you about all of them.

If you did not read Victor Riesel in Saturday's Review, I suggest that you look up this article and read what he has to say about men's suits that are being made in Japan. Japan has only sold 30,000 of these suits so far, but has on file orders for 300,000 to be shipped to the United States. You and I may say there is no textile factories here, or we don't work in a textile plant, but if tens of thousands of workers are forced out of their jobs, and they are all potential buyers of dishes and other commodities manufactured in our vicinity, very soon we are all going to be in the same boat.

We also may say we don't do any farming, so why should we be bothered about wheat. Well, here is why. For each bushel of wheat we sell to foreign countries, our government pays 65 cents subsidy. On each pound of cotton, 8 cents is paid of our tax dollar. So, whether we are the butcher, baker, or the candlestick-maker, it should be some of our affair. Bread went up one cent per loaf last week, and we have so much wheat in our storage bins we don't know what to do with it. How do you figure that? Don't get me wrong. I know we must have trade, but we can't have a one-way street. It must work both ways. The commodities we need, we should buy, sure, but to buy and buy things we have in abundance, no.

Now, what are we to do about this matter? Here is what you and I cna do, and here is what you and I had better do. Write to our senators and congressmen in Washington, D. C. Tell them exactly how we feel about this question. There is no better time to do it — this being an election year.

The oil industry has a quota on imports of oil by using the escape clause in the Reciprocal Trade Agreement. Why should they be different from us? If we do our part by writing our senators and congressmen, they will not be.

Let's go! Let's write as individuals or by petitions.

Fireman Of 30 Years Is Honored

Veteran Wellsville volunteer fireman A. W. (Lon) Phillips, left, of 837 Main St. was honored for 30 years continuous service as treasurer of the volunteer department during the annual dinner for city officials Tuesday night at the fire station.

Phillips declined another term at the election held about a month ago. Fire Chief Robert Lewis, center, congratulates him on his long service after he was given a watch by the department as his son, Jack Phillips, department secretary, looks on.

Phillips has served as a volunteer for a total of 55 years. His son has served as secretary for 10 years.

Thirty-two attended the surprise event. City officials and members of Council were guests.

Joe Rutter of Columbus, superintendent in charge of the Classification Department of the Ohio Inspection Bureau, was guest speaker. His topic was "What Makes a Fire Department."

been ransacked but nothing of value was missing.

A sex attack? The women had not been sexually molested and showed no signs of struggle.

Revenge? "I don't think I had any enemies who would go to that extreme," said Dr. Clarke, head surgeon at St. Peter's Hospital, New Brunswick.

The Clarke home 33 miles southeast of New York City is a large, 2½-story colonial house framed by fir trees, an orchard and a red barn. It is only a few miles from the scene of the Hall-Mills murder, one of the most sensational crimes of the 1920s.

At a news conference Tuesday night in the county courthouse at New Brunswick, Wilentz gave this timetable:

About 9 a.m. Mrs. Chapin, daughter-in-law of Seldin Chapin, former U.S. ambassador to the Netherlands, left the home to go shopping.

Shortly before noon the Clarke's gardener, Daniel Ploranski, 65, noticed a cab pull into the dirt driveway that leads from Rt. 27 to the home. Ploranski, pruning trees, said the driver and one passenger were inside.

About the same time someone from inside the home used the phone. Wilentz did not say to whom the phone call was made.

Some 20 minutes after the cab arrived, Ploranski said a lone man walked from the house and drove off in the cab. He said the man appeared about 35 years old, 5 feet 5, and was wearing a gray-brown overcoat, brown felt hat and glasses.

At 1:15 p.m. Mrs. Chapin returned. She found the three women in Mrs. Clarke's bedroom. She ran outside to tell Ploranski. Then she called police on the downstairs phone, the only one of four in the house that hadn't been ripped out.

Clarke was operating at St. Peter's when police tried to reach him. His colleagues let him finish before telling him "something was wrong at home."

Mrs. Clarke had been invalided since suffering a stroke last July.

A wave of newly-promoted officers caused a shortage of first lieutenant bars at the base. The exchange's supply was sold out. An enterprising young first lieutenant got his new bars. He spotted the bars on the store dummy and traded them for a set of captain's insignia.

The rear of a Wellsville man's auto was damaged in a collision on the overhead bridge on 1st St., Chester, Tuesday night about 8:15, Patrolman Harold Davis reported.

A semi-trailer truck driven by Clyde McPherson of Atlanta, Ga., caught the rear bumper of a 1959 coach of Floyd Cathell of Buckeye Ave., as both made the turn at the foot of the bridge. Both were headed south. Damage was minor, Davis said.

Candidates

Wetzel of Lisbon, the incumbent, filed earlier for renomination on the GOP slate.

Because of periodic reapportionment, Columbiana County will name two state representatives in 1960, rather than one.

Democratic candidates to date are Bernard Freeman of Columbiana and Ben Barrett of Salem.

Two more previously announced candidates also filed today. Robert W. Sample Jr. of McKinnon Ave., former city councilman, filed for the GOP nomination for county recorder and Dale E. Fulton of Martins Ferry entered for 18th Congressional District member of the Republican State Central Committee.

Fulton now holds the Republican party post. He became interim appointee to succeed U. S. District Judge Carl Weinman of Steubenville, who gave up the post when he ascended the bench.

2 Men At Chester Enter Hancock Races

Two Chester men have entered Hancock County's primary May 10, seeking posts in Grant District.

Hugo Taudien of Middle Run Rd. filed as a Republican candidate for constable, while Leland D. Fowler, 818 Neptune Ave., filed for Democratic justice of the peace.

Taudien, a retired Pennsylvania coal miner, is the fourth Republican to file for Grant District constable.

Fowler, an insurance agent, is the second Democrat seeking nomination as justice of the peace. The post is presently held by Squire W. Eugene Allison, a Republican, who has also filed for renomination.

A total of 48 have entered the primary with the deadline midnight Feb. 6.

The high court said statute requires an opportuity to offer objections to an application for liquor permit within 500 feet of a church, school, library or public playground. But the liquor director must reach his decision on the basis of substantial evidence, the court added.

"In this case," the court said, "the objection made by the church constituted merely a naked objection which, unsupported by reliable, probative and substantial evidence, is insufficient to support the denial of the permit."

Health Group Has Election

LISBON — A secretary-treasurer and five new committee members were elected at the annual meeting of the Columbiana County Health and Safety Council Tuesday evening at the First Methodist Church.

Mrs. Sybel Degnan of Leetonia, school nurse, was elected secretary - treasurer, and Atty. Donald Elliott of Rogers, Mrs. Earl Gruber and Roy Painter, both of Hanoverton, and Miss Lillian Schroeder and Harold Graham of Salem were named to the executive committee.

Mrs. Warren Courtney of Winona spoke on women's work in Civil Defense and the Rev. Tom Hammerton showed a Red Cross film on first aid for burns in a disaster.

The council decided to continue a Speakers' Bureau for any organization interested in the health program and arrangements for speakers may be made through Floyd Lower, county extension agent, at 113 S. Market St.

Mrs. Ralph Phillis, president, presided, and 25 members were present.

Post To Collect Dimes

LISBON — American Legion Post 275 will hold a Block-of-Dimes Friday evening and all day Saturday, east and west from N. Market St. on N. Park Pl. on the Public Square. Richard Rose and Byron Griffith are co-chairmen.

Community Fund Extended To Wait Industrial Report

The Board of Trustees of the Community Fund today announced plans for extending the industrial solicitation in hopes of obtaining $8,000 to $10,000 more. Slightly more than $64,000 has been collected towards the goal of $83,000.

David Beatty, drive chairman, said the industrial solicitation was seriously affected by the steel strike. He said three or four industries still have to make an employe solicitation and that this, along with some other important sources, would bring the additional money.

The industrial committee is headed by John Thompson and William Porter. They were instructed at a trustees meeting Monday night to proceed with the program. Many individuals who were indirectly affected by the strike will be contacted by mail or phone.

The agencies also planned to organize a council composed of executive heads to promote better understanding of the fund to the public throughout the year.

how you can deny tax relief to these people," Seibert said.

Del. J. C. Cruikshank (D-Clay) gave perhaps the most candid explanation of why the Democrats have scrapped Underwood's public works program and substituted more modest economic relief proposals of their own.

"We're not going to give the Republicans minority a club to beat us over the head with in November," Cruikshank said. "We don't propose to raise a large slush fund to turn over to this Republican administration."

Underwood's program called for spending at least eight million dollars on state parks, forests and other natural assets and 4½ million on secondary roads in the next fiscal year. It also called for increased taxes to finance the program.

Senate and House Democratic majorities are now hastily putting together a substitute program, the broad outlines of which they agreed on in a joint caucus Tuesday.

The Democratic program would cost between four and five million. It involves no new or increased taxes, but would be financed by higher liquor store prices, continuation of an insurance premium tax increase voted last year and budget trimming. Details of how the money would be spent are still being worked out.

Miles C. Stanley, president of the West Virginia Labor Federation, AFL-CIO, said of the Democratic proposals:

"The pie is awfully small to try to cut up among so many unemployed. Feeding hungry people should be the No. 1 concern of every legislator. I hope that if they do pass revenue measures in the amount indicated, a major portion will be dedicated to supplementing the diets of those who are subsisting on surplus commodities."

State Conservation Director Warden M. Lane, who supervised drafting of the administration's parks and forests program, took Bean to task for what Lane viewed as inconsistency.

In a statement soon after Bean's Senate speech yesterday, Lane observed that Bean had criticized the parks program as unemployment relief because the parks are not located in the distressed areas.

"Then he turns around and proposes that the legislature spend $1,400,000 for park improvement as a means of helping the unemployed," Lane said.

The $1,400,000 for parks is one of the items in the Democratic program adopted in the joint caucus. The program consists mainly of proposals outlined in a caucus speech by Bean.

The apparent collapse of severance tax agitation in the House was one result of adoption of a program designed to avoid disagreement between the Senate and House majorities.

Dels. Nell Walker (D-Fayette) and Roy Lee Harmon (D-Raleigh) introduced a bill to impose a severance tax on production of coal and other natural resources. The House Finance Committee had scheduled a hearing on it for tomorrow morning.

But Chairman Julius W. Singleton Jr. announced yesterday that the hearing had been called off. Officially, it is only "postponed," but it is considered unlikely that it will be held at all.

Frank G. Gramm, company president, was reported out of town, and A. L. Eaton, plant superintendent, was not available this morning for comment.

Employes originally went on strike June 30 when the company and union failed to agree to a 14-day contract extension. Employes returned to work Nov. 13 on an 80-day extension on the heels of the Taft-Hartley injunction which affected Big Steel and other steel producers. The local has about 200 members but only about 50 have been working.

Negotiations still are continuing or meetings are expected next week for several area companies, including the Midland Mackintosh-Hemphill Division of the E. W. Bliss Co. and Local 1269, Patterson Foundry & Machine Co. of East Liverpool and Local 1322 and Guy Gengarella & Sons of Midland and Local 4999.

Mannequins wore tall beehive hats or pudding basins. The costume jewelry was heaped on with a heavy hand. Jeweled medallions as big as saucers perched on the bosom, often paired with slave bracelets worn above the elbow on each arm.

Typical suits have a loose jacket loose skirt, and loose top. There are also suit dresses, with both dress and jacket unfitted. Four Skindivers Fail To Find Woman's Body

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP)—The efforts of four Columbus skindivers searching Paint Creek Tuesday failed to turn up any signs of the body of a woman who fell into the river last Saturday.

Mrs. Elsie Riley, 37, of Chillicothe fell into the creek three miles west of here after she got out of a companion's car because she was ill. The river at that point is 18 feet deep.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a career woman (unmarried) and my brother is a bachelor in his late 30s. I've been living alone and hating it. He has been doing the same.

Recently the two of us decided we could cut expenses drastically and enjoy the pleasure of each other's company if we took a large apartment together. We've always gotten on well and agreed on most things.

When I mentioned the possibility to some of my friends they were horrified. The more conservation acquaintances said it wouldn't look respectable and that we'd be talked about by everyone in town.

We've read your common-sense answers to other thorny problems and would appreciate your opinion. —PERPLEXED.

Dear Perplexed: There's nothing wrong with a brother and sister making a home together.

Small minds and big mouths never will cease their evil work. No one has yet devised a method of controlling gossip—but you can ignore it.

Withered Romances

Dear Ann: When I married Thomas I was sure it was the real thing. Now I realize it was a mistake and I was too young.

I work in an office and am friendly with a co-worker who is my age, she's unhappy in her marriage, too. In short, we both want out but we have no legal grounds. Our husbands are nice guys with no bad habits. The worst that can be said about them is that they are dull.

My girl friend shares her home with her husband's brother and his wife. I can see why she might complain but I have no such problems. We need some advice.—TOO YOUNG.

Dear Too Young: Sorry the story books lied, kids, and the fairy princes turned out to be humans with faults like everyone else.

You two are beautiful examples of the boredom that sets in when the romantic dreams fade. And this is why I pleaded with young people to keep the brakes on. I beg them not to hop from their graduation gowns into bridal veils merely because there's nothing else exciting to do.

Now you must pull up your socks and make your marriage work.

Three Of A Kind

Dear Ann: I'm 17 and was married on my 16th birthday. I'm expecting a baby any minute and need some advice badly.

My husband says he's not happy with me and wants to separate. He wants me to move into my mother's apartment so he can have our place. When I ask him what is wrong with our marriage he says it's not just one thing but lots of small things.

I don't want to separate, especially since a baby is on the way. He's 27 years old and was married once before. If he moves me over to my mother's is he responsible for the doctor bills? Please help me.—HEARTBROKEN 17.

Dear Heartbroken 17: You and girls in the above letter make a nice set of triples. You all married too young.

You do not have to move to your mother's. If your husband leaves or stays he is legally obligated to pay the bills and support you and the baby. Contact Legal Aid and learn what your rights are under the law.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Brotherhood Urged Of Club

Charles D. Taylor, president of the Rotary Club, called on members to practice brotherhood and friendship in the community when he spoke at the luncheon meeting Tuesday in the Travelers Hotel.

His talks was in connection with a "Bridges of Friendship" theme for stronger ties of friendship with other nations, proposed by Harold Thomas, Rotary International president.

Thomas will be in Youngstown for a dinner Feb. 9 in the Pick-Ohio Hotel.

Taylor, a veteran of World War II and the Korean War with the rank of captain, said he has found during his travels the need for "stronger friendship bridges between nations of the world."

He urged fellow-members to strive to "personalize Rotary's service theme." "Each member can do a little bit in building the friendship bridges," he added.

Fritz Zeh of the Bankers Insurance Co. of Wheeling was scheduled to speak but is ill with the flu.

Atlas Missile Passes Tests

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The United States has demonstrated the power and accuracy of its biggest military rocket, the Atlas, with a pair of successful launchings from opposite ends of the country.

The launchings featured a heavy American missile schedule which also included the successful firings of a Redstone ballistic missile at White Sands, N.M., and a Javelin test rocket from Wallop's Island, Va.

An Atlas launched at Cape Canaveral Tuesday night carried an experimental nose cone to a target off the South Atlantic island of Ascension, 5,000 miles away. A few hours earlier, Stretegic Air Command troops fired another Atlas into the Pacific from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

The Air Force announced both shots were completely successful. They were the 16th and 17th straight successes for the big missile in a remarkable string extending back to last July.

The nose cone carried by the Cape Canaveral Atlas was designed for heavier payloads, faster re-entry and greater accuracy then the blunt cone now used on operational Atlases.

The Redstone was launched by U. S. troops who man the 250-mile-range weapon in Europe. The shot was the first in a series involving an improved Redstone.

The Javelin sped more than 600 miles into the sky in another test of a new rocket engine which will be used in space missions. The engine, called the X248, constituted the fourth stage of the Javelin. It will also serve as an upper stage of the Scout and Thor-Delta vehicles which are expected to have their first satellite and deep space assignments this spring.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Calories Should Count For Protection

There seems to be considerable confusion about calories. Many of you continue to ask why various calorie charts differ widely, particularly the calories on meats.

Ida Jean Kain

In many charts the meat calories are given for raw weights, also the fat of the meat has been included in the count. But today, people are trimming off the fat rim of the meat, and obviously the trimmed calories should not be included in the count.

In the "Revised Calorie Chart," two sets of values are given on meats, the calories on strictly lean meat and the calories on lean-and-marbled meat. These values are based on research conducted at the Oklahoma Agriculture Experiment Station. The values are on cooked meats.

THE TERM lean refers to meat which is free of intermuscular fat. Lean-and-marbled refers to meat which contains inseparable fat.

Take note, the calories on the lean-and-marbled portions of meat do not include any fat that can be trimmed away, such as the widely spaced fat running through a piece of meat.

It is well to bear in mind that trimmable fat, if eaten, boosts your calories by roughly 100 calories per half ounce. On the brighter side, by trimming off the fat, you cut calories fast.

A teen-ager has asked what is meant by "lone-wolf" calories. These are the calories that furnish fuel only and do not keep company with other good nutrients. Sweetened soft drinks, candy bars, and confections as well as the fatty part of meat furnish empty calories, that is, empty from the nutrient standpoint.

Get acquainted with that term nutrients. The nutrients—protein, minerals and vitamins — are essential for growth in children and teens, and for upkeep and renewal of body tissue for everyone.

THE PROTECTIVE foods which provide their full share of vital nutrients are: fruits and green and yellow vegetables; milk, skim milk and buttermilk and non-fat dry milk; yellow cheese and cottage cheese, eggs, lean meat, fish and fowl and whole grains.

Think of the protective foods as providing bargains in calories — you get more vital nutrients for your calories.

Send a stamped, self-addressed long envelope for the "Revised Calorie Chart" to Ida Jean Kain, care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Lake Cities Push Deeper Channels

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representatives from Lake Erie cities tonight urged speedy Senate action on a House-passed bill that would authorize deepening of channels in Great Lakes ports.

They want the port channels to have the same 27-foot minimum depth as the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Responding to their pleas at a dinner sponsored by the Council of Lake Erie Ports, Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich) said it is as essential to deepen the channels as to complete the seaway.

The 27-foot seaway depth now extends to about Toledo, Ohio. The channels connecting lakes Erie and Michigan and Michigan and Superior still require dredging to meet the minimum depth. Such work is now underway.

Attending the dinner were Congress members from Pennsylvania New York, Ohio and Michigan, along with representatives of Cleveland, Toledo, and Sandusky, Ohio; Erie, Pa.; Detroit; Buffalo, N. Y. and other Lake Erie ports.

Fights For Forest Land

CHARDON, Ohio (AP)—A retired farmer has given land valued at $50,000 to be sold for funds to buy up and preserve forest land in Geauga County. A public forest of 500 acres is planned. The farmer, Fred Whitlan, 85, of Moreland Hills, offered a 35-acre tract in Moreland Hills to finance purchase of forest land. The offer was accepted through the County Commissioners, and Ture Johnson, northeastern Ohio farm forester, is acting as trustee. Johnson said Whitlan suggested preserving the forest land before home development wipes out the woods.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Calories Should Count For Protection

There seems to be considerable confusion about calories. Many of you continue to ask why various calorie charts differ widely, particularly the calories on meats.

By Ida Jean Kain

In many charts the meat calories are given for raw weights, also the fat of the meat has been included in the count. But today, people are trimming off the fat rim of the meat, and obviously the trimmed calories should not be included in the count.

In the "Revised Calorie Chart," two sets of values are given on meats, the calories on strictly lean meat and the calories on lean-and-marbled meat. These values are based on research conducted at the Oklahoma Agriculture Experiment Station. The values are on cooked meats.

THE TERM lean refers to meat which is free of intermuscular fat. Lean-and-marbled refers to meat which contains inseparable fat.

Take note, the calories on the lean-and-marbled portions of meat do not include any fat that can be trimmed away, such as the widely spaced fat running through a piece of meat.

It is well to bear in mind that trimmable fat, if eaten, boosts your calories by roughly 100 calories per half ounce. On the brighter side, by trimming off the fat, you cut calories fast.

A teen-ager has asked what is meant by "lone-wolf" calories. These are the calories that furnish fuel only and do not keep company with other good nutrients. Sweetened soft drinks, candy bars, and confections as well as the fatty part of meat furnish empty calories, that is, empty from the nutrient standpoint.

Get acquainted with that term nutrients. The nutrients—protein, minerals and vitamins — are essential for growth in children and teens, and for upkeep and renewal of body tissue for everyone.

THE PROTECTIVE foods which provide their full share of vital nutrients are: fruits and green and yellow vegetables; milk, skim milk and buttermilk and non-fat dry milk; yellow cheese and cottage cheese, eggs, lean meat, fish and fowl and whole grains.

Think of the protective foods as providing bargains in calories — you get more vital nutrients for your calories.

Send a stamped, self-addressed long envelope for the "Revised Calorie Chart" to Ida Jean Kain, care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Graham Crusade Turns To Nigeria

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — Billy Graham takes his African crusade to Nigeria today.

A meeting Tuesday night in Kumasi, 125 miles northwest of Accra, completed the evangelist's Ghana visit during which he persuaded more than 3,000 Africans to make "decisions for Christ."

Before flying to Kumasi Graham met with Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah.

Graham said the Ghanian leader, often described by his newspapers as Africa's saviour, told him he wants complete religious freedom for his people.

The Prime Minister expressed disappointment that he was unable to attend one of Graham's meetings.

Accra's press, including Nkrumah's papers, criticized the evangelist's silence on the planned French atomic tests in the Sahara.

Graham has refused public comment on the tests on grounds they involve political questions.

How Can I

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. Whenever I paint chairs and other furniture, which I have set on newspaper to protect my floor, my finished paint job invariably sticks to the newspaper and creates a mess. How can I avoid this?

A. Try inserting a square of aluminum foil under each leg of the furniture. Your paint job will not stick to this.

Q. How can I give some of my cloth rugs a good, general, brightening-up treatment?

A. You can do this by sprinkling some salt over the rug, letting this stand for an hour or two, then vacuuming it.

Q. How can I remove rust from an iron frying pan?

A. You can do this with scouring powder and some steel wool. To prevent future rust, rub the inside and outside of the skillet with lard.

Judge Analyzes Swastika Cases

CINCINNATI (AP)—"The serious thing is that angry, disturbed children should seize upon the blood-drenched swastika as a way of expressing themselves."

That's the view of Judge Justine Wise Polier of New York's domestic Relations Court, an expert on juvenile problems.

She said there is no evidence of political direction in the incidents of swastika painting and Nazi-German anti-Jewish slogans.

Judge Polier in an interview Tuesday night suggested that bigoted parents or television programs showing Nazi desecrations may have a part in the swastika incidents in this country.

The judge also heads the executive committee of the National Jewish Congress.

She suggested that American religious leaders realize they have not done enough to help children grow up with love for their fellow man.

But Judge Polier said tough penalties don't help the wayward youngster. She said, "There is plenty of evidence this (harsh punishment) is a cheap panacea by communities which won't spend enough money to rehabilitate children."

Judge Polier is here for the annual conference of the Ohio Assn. of Probate and Juvenile Court judges.

Duties Assigned For Police Lodge

Three committees were named by Deputy Sheriff Robert Beresford, president, at a meeting of the Wellsville Fraternal Order of Police Lodge Monday night at the fire station.

Beresford and Patrolmen Ed James and Joseph Heiney will head the arrangements for the carnival to be held in the spring.

Chief John Hephner, Capt. Pete Trainer and Vince Fiber comprise the membership committee and Patrolman Robert Wellington, Jay Williamson and Harold Dickinson were named to plan a bake sale.

The bake sale will be held Feb. 13 at Wilson's Super-market. Wives will provide the baked goods.

Glenn Hill of Canton, 2nd District FOP trustee, was a guest. He discussed the civil rights of policemen. A discussion was held on obtaining grave markers for deceased members.

Lunch was served by Beresford and James. The next meeting will be Feb. 29.

The two eastbound lanes were closed Tuesday and all traffic used the westbound lanes. In its new path, the sewer crosses W. 8th St. diagonally and then follows W. 9th St. east toward Dresden Ave.

Reorganization Waited By Civil Service Board

The Municipal Civil Service Commission is expected to set its annual reorganization meeting as soon as the three members can agree on a mutually satisfactory date.

The reorganization—election of a chairman and a clerk—would have been held on the regular meeting date last Monday, but the session was canceled.

The members are Donal Burcham, chairman, Atty. Ben Berman and Clarence E. Reagle, who was appointed Jan 1. by Mayor Bert H. Goodballet to succeed Alvin T. Babb. Babb's term expired Dec. 31.

Collin Neal is clerk. As the balance of power has swung from the Republicans to the Democrats, the commission may name a new clerk. Burcham and Reagle are Democrats and Berman is a Republican. The board was 2-1 Republican in 1958-59, as Babb also was a GOP member.

'Need Disarmament Policy,' Humphrey Says In Ohio Talk

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The United States has not been adequately prepared in its disarmament negotiations for the past four years, U.S. Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn) told a ministers' convention here Tuesday night.

The U.S. is approaching disarmament talks in six weeks without a policy, said the chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Disarmament.

"I remain convinced that a first step toward disarmament can be achieved through an agreement for the cessation of nuclear testing under effective control and inspection," he told the Ohio Pastors Convention.

The four-day convention ends today.

The senator outlined two alternatives he has proposed for a test ban treaty.

"One is to have the control system up for a trial period so that all can see whether the Soviets will cooperate. . . ."

"The other alternative is to have a treaty covering in the first instance a ban on all tests in the atmosphere, other space and underwater and likewise a ban on underground tests of significant strength . . ." he said. All tests can be well policed and inspected, he added.

Humphrey also called for public support of his Senate resolution which specifies that the U.S., not the World Court, decide when a dispute is of international character subject to the court's jurisdiction.

At a convention luncheon, the Ohio Council of Churches was awarded a citation for promoting Boy Scout activities as a part of the program of Christian Education of the Protestant Churches.

Dr. A. E. Iverson, director of Protestant relationships of the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America, presented the award to Roy D. Miller, of Dayton, OCC representative.

Polio Fund Program Held By Chester Club

The campaign against polio, birth defects and arthritis in the new 1960 March of Dimes was described in talks and a movie at a meeting of the Chester Kiwanis Club Tuesday night.

Bert Byers of Weirton, Hancock County drive chairman, discussed the campaign, and a movie on the hospital care of patients was screened by Raymond Stevens.

J. Paul Finley, chairman of the city drive sponsored by the service club, reported $428 netted so far, and a house-to-house canvass will be held tonight by women volunteers.

William Hobbs, Key Club member, and William Matthew of Washington were guests. Lee Adams gave the invocation. Alvin (Pete) Arner presided.

St. Luke's Guild To Sponsor Georgetown Bazaar Friday

The Guild of St. Luke's Episcopal Church will hold a bazaar and parcel post sale Friday night at 8 in the Georgetown School hall.

Refreshments will be sold. Proceeds will go to the Parish House fund, Mrs. John Calhoon, Guild president, said.

Mrs. W. H. Buzzard of Mahoning, Pa., and Mrs. and Mrs. Arnold Wible and daughters, Marcia and Teri, of Kittanning were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bowser.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Durst were Mr. and Mrs. Dale Eaton of Industry and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Proudfit and daughters of Burgettstown. The Dursts and their guests later visited Mr. and Mrs. Paul McGeehan of Midland.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wolf and family, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wolf and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bachman of Pittsburgh and Robert Gower of Beaver Falls have concluded visits with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Himler.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Walton of Chester were Sunday guests of Mrs. Sara Laughlin.

Mrs. Charles Finley entertained Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Hilbert and family of Beaver on Sunday.

Mrs. Edward Alexander underwent surgery last week at Rochester General Hospital

Mrs. Joseph Decapio has returned home from City Hospital.

Teacher Gives Strong Lesson In Ethics

The television hoax in quiz programs has raised questions about cheating at school in tests and examinations. On November 11, many newspapers carried a story of how Melvin C. Willet, a teacher of history at the Freehold (N. J.) Regional High School, shocked his students into rough awareness of what ethical behavior involves. He had been discussing the television quiz show scandal with a class of 35 students in a current-events period. They argued, "Since there's nothing illegal about rigging a quiz show and its tempting money, why condemn the practice?"

By Garry Meyers

TO THE next class of 30-odd students, boys and girls 16 and 17 years old, he suddenly announced a test. It was a tough one on current events, which lasted about five minutes. He told them their grades on the test would count on their records.

"Will three of you come up here and sit near me? he asked.

As Mr. Willet asked questions, he wrote down the answer in plain view of the students, sitting near him—without explaining.

When the papers were graded, the three students sitting near the teacher got 100, while the rest got only 25 to 40. Flabber-gasted, students with low marks wanted to know why three got 100 and the rest all did badly. Mr. Willet tried to act sheepishly, in order to get a good reaction and he got it.

STUDENTS SHOUTED indignantly that it was all very unfair, as the teacher had said these marks were for the record. So Mr. Willet told them he knew of no New Jersey State law prohibiting him from giving out answers.

Still playing deadpan, he asked the students what they really thought of him.

"We are frank in our school," he said, "and they laid it on the line — including the three who took down the answers."

By this time the three were pretty uncomfortable; some class members pointed out that word would get around the school and give the entire class a bad name.

Then Mr. Willet disclosed the purpose of his quiz.

It was repeated on two similar groups with like results — nine accepted answers and were ashamed afterwards; 105 students suffered as "unfixed contestants."

—:—

MR. WILLET observed that, following the disclosure of the test-riggings, discussion by the students of television quiz rigging reflected "a far more critical, mature point of view."

"Must an act be illegal to be wrong?" is a question all of us parents and teachers should often discuss with our children.

Demonstrations Against Ike Due On South American Trip

by JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anti-American agitators operating out of Cuba were reported today to be plotting demonstrations against President Eisenhower when he visits South America next month.

These reports, picked up by U. S. government security agencies, are being studied carefully by top aides planning the President's goodwill tour of Brazil, Argentina, Chile and Uruguay.

As a precaution, the Secret Service, in cooperation with local governments, is planning the closest step-by-step security watch over the President.

One report is that some fanatic supporters of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro have flown from Havana to countries Eisenhower will visit to help organize demonstrations.

The agitators, it is reported, hope to embarrass the President during this stay, by picturing him as a reactionary foe of efforts by the Latin American people to improve their living standards.

Authorities have received conflicting reports about whether Latin American Communists plan to organize or join any anti-Eisenhower demonstration which might boil up on the route.

The Reds are known to have been the instigators of the spitting, rock-throwing demonstration that endangered Vice President Richard M. Nixon's life when he visited Venezuela and Peru in May 1958.

Screen Actors Guild Will Take Strike Vote

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The 14,000 members of the Screen Actors Guild will vote by mail on whether to strike movie producers who refuse extra pay to actors when their films are sold to television.

The films involved are those made after Aug. 1, 1948.

It will take about three weeks to conduct the poll.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

Theater Shows Vitality In Hinterlands

DALLAS, Tex. One of the fascinating and thoroughly unappreciated phenomena of our burgeoning American culture is the tremendous growth of live American theater full of live, indigenous, native, local actors and, what is even more important, live, indigenous native, local playgoers. The enthusiasm of the audiences out here in the grass roots is what is important.

John Crosby

As a man who is increasingly restive with the state of mind of Broadway audiences who are not native, local, indigenous or — it sometimes seems — even live, I was terribly intrigued by the wonderful freshness and responsiveness of the audience here in the Kalita Humphreys Theater, which is a marvelous new repertory theater designed by Frank Lloyd Wright and built at a cost of a million dollars contributed by Dallas citizens.

WE WERE WATCHING "The Cross - Eyed Bear," a new play written by Gene McKinney, a local playwright, an experimental morality play, vivid, fresh, witty, but uneven in texture.

What interested me was the fact that the audience in this light, airy, spacious, comfortable auditorium was so with it, so alert, so perceptive, so sympathetic, so ready with their laughter and their interest.

Sitting there in the darkness, I thought of a luncheon I had had with Jackie Gleason just before I came out here. Gleason was talking about getting big laughs one night, an unusual thing, during his show, "Take Me Along." Suddenly he realized he was playing to a nonbenefit audience.

Mostly, Gleason said, he was delivering lines to an audience which simply stared back hostilely.

"Let's face it," said Gleason. "These people are some place they don't want to be. Some guy is heading out to work in the morning and his wife calls to him, 'Don't forget, dear. We're going to the theater tonight. You remember the benefit for the retarded children.' "

AND SO THE GUY comes home early, and puts on a dinner jacket he doesn't want to put on, and is dragged to a play he wasn't consulted about seeing, and for which he paid anywhere from $25 to $100 a ticket to see, to mingle with people he loathes, and to hate the actors in the play.

Oh, it's a great emotional climate for theater we are creating on Broadway.

And, when you add the discomfort of our theaters, the difficulties of getting to them, the almost impossibility of getting home from them after the show, the rudeness of the ticket takers, and the mediocrity of much of the pre-sold junk that is being fed to him, it is not at all surprising that the playgoer is a little surly and, as a matter of fact, it is astonishing that live theater survives at all.

Anyhow, all these thoughts flashed through my mind while sitting in a comfortable seat (Wright and Paul Baker, the theater's director, worked three months designing those seats alone) with lots of leg room and spacious aisles in what may be the best-lighted theater in the world.

OUTSIDE the theater, a little stream meanders through the wooded area where the building resides, and right at the entrance a fountain splashes under colored lights. (When they build Lincoln Square, I devoutly hope fountains are included. There's nothing like the soft contours and sounds of water for soothing the spirit and softening the playgoer.)

Paul Baker, the bright theatrical flame who kindled all the enthusiasm that built this theater, who now directs it, and who directed this play, declares of his theater:

"It's a monument to the people of Dallas. They gave their full time and their money (a million dollars). Bob Whitehead (who is in charge of developing the Lincoln Square Theater) says this is the most beautiful, functional, best-equipped theater he ever saw."

BAKER, WHOM Charles Laughton has called the brightest theatrical mind in England, France or America, talked about the theater in America and abroad and —with reluctance and only at my urging— about Broadway?

"Well, I think Broadway has got awfully nostalgic. I guess Gypsy Rose Lee is one of the critics' heroines and they felt they had to be polite to 'Gypsy.'

"I got up and walked out of 'J.B.' I thought it was the most pretentious thing I'd ever seen. I've done Job and done it better. I couldn't stand what they did to 'Look Homeward, Angel.' I thought it was a perversion of Thomas Wolfe and represented almost what he wrote against.

"By and large Broadway has become a place to entertain the tired businessman. But I don't want to talk against Broadway. I have great respect for the skills of many of those people. However, I found no fresh ideas there and I think there is a tremendous necessity to break new ground in the theater."

BAKER SAID he had not encountered many fresh new ideas abroad either until he ran into Jean Louis Barrault and Marcel Monceau in France, and the Kabuki Dancers in Japan. Berthold Brecht and the German theater he has not seen, but would like to.

If you think I'm suggesting that the place for us to look for vitality and freshness is in the hinterland, you're exactly right. I wish we could import some of that enthusiasm to Broadway.

But the vitality starts with the people, the audience. They're the ones who built this theater and who sit in the seats. And they laugh out loud. It's wonderful to hear them, and it makes theatergoing great fun again.

American teen-agers, according to one recent estimate, have about seven billion dollars to spend a year. About 30 per cent earn their money baby-sitting and in part-time jobs, 45 per cent get allowances and 22 per cent collect from both sources.

Mayor's Office Skips Closing At Lunch Time

It will be a particular aid to persons employed in offices and stores who cannot get to City Hall except on their lunch hours, he said.

The office of the mayor's receptionist serves as a general clearinghouse for information on City Hall offices, as it is located immediately inside the man entrance and is the first encountered by most visitors.

Theater Shows Vitality In Hinterlands

DALLAS, Tex. One of the fascinating and thoroughly unappreciated phenomena of our burgeoning American culture is the tremendous growth of live American theater full of live, indigenous, native, local actors and, what is even more important, live, indigenous native, local playgoers. The enthusiasm of the audiences out here in the grass roots is what is important.

John Crosby

As a man who is increasingly restive with the state of mind of Broadway audiences who are not native, local, indigenous or — it sometimes seems — even live, I was terribly intrigued by the wonderful freshness and responsiveness of the audience here in the Kalita Humphreys Theater, which is a marvelous new repertory theater designed by Frank Lloyd Wright and built at a cost of a million dollars contributed by Dallas citizens.

WE WERE WATCHING "The Cross - Eyed Bear," a new play written by Gene McKinney, a local playwright, an experimental morality play, vivid, fresh, witty, but uneven in texture.

What interested me was the fact that the audience in this light, airy, spacious, comfortable auditorium was so with it, so alert, so perceptive, so sympathetic, so ready with their laughter and their interest.

Sitting there in the darkness, I thought of a luncheon I had had with Jackie Gleason just before I came out here. Gleason was talking about getting big laughs one night, an unusual thing, during his show, "Take Me Along." Suddenly he realized he was playing to a nonbenefit audience.

Mostly, Gleason said, he was delivering lines to an audience which simply stared back hostilely.

"Let's face it," said Gleason. "These people are some place they don't want to be. Some guy is heading out to work in the morning and his wife calls to him, 'Don't forget, dear. We're going to the theater tonight. You remember the benefit for the retarded children.' "

AND SO THE GUY comes home early, and puts on a dinner jacket he doesn't want to put on, and is dragged to a play he wasn't consulted about seeing, and for which he paid anywhere from $25 to $100 a ticket to see, to mingle with people he loathes, and to hate the actors in the play.

Oh, it's a great emotional climate for theater we are creating on Broadway.

And, when you add the discomfort of our theaters, the difficulties of getting to them, the almost impossibility of getting home from them after the show, the rudeness of the ticket takers, and the mediocrity of much of the pre-sold junk that is being fed to him, it is not at all surprising that the playgoer is a little surly and, as a matter of fact, it is astonishing that live theater survives at all.

Anyhow, all these thoughts flashed through my mind while sitting in a comfortable seat (Wright and Paul Baker, the theater's director, worked three months designing those seats alone) with lots of leg room and spacious aisles in what may be the best-lighted theater in the world.

OUTSIDE the theater, a little stream meanders through the wooded area where the building resides, and right at the entrance a fountain splashes under colored lights. (When they build Lincoln Square, I devoutly hope fountains are included. There's nothing like the soft contours and sounds of water for soothing the spirit and softening the playgoer.)

Paul Baker, the bright theatrical flame who kindled all the enthusiasm that built this theater, who now directs it, and who directed this play, declares of his theater:

"It's a monument to the people of Dallas. They gave their full time and their money (a million dollars). Bob Whitehead (who is in charge of developing the Lincoln Square Theater) says this is the most beautiful, functional, best-equipped theater he ever saw."

BAKER, WHOM Charles Laughton has called the brightest theatrical mind in England, France or America, talked about the theater in America and abroad and —with reluctance and only at my urging— about Broadway?

"Well, I think Broadway has got awfully nostalgic. I guess Gypsy Rose Lee is one of the critics' heroines and they felt they had to be polite to 'Gypsy.'

"I got up and walked out of 'J.B.' I thought it was the most pretentious thing I'd ever seen. I've done Job and done it better. I couldn't stand what they did to 'Look Homeward, Angel.' I thought it was a perversion of Thomas Wolfe and represented almost what he wrote against.

"By and large Broadway has become a place to entertain the tired businessman. But I don't want to talk against Broadway. I have great respect for the skills of many of those people. However, I found no fresh ideas there and I think there is a tremendous necessity to break new ground in the theater."

BAKER SAID he had not encountered many fresh new ideas abroad either until he ran into Jean Louis Barrault and Marcel Monceau in France, and the Kabuki Dancers in Japan. Berthold Brecht and the German theater he has not seen, but would like to.

If you think I'm suggesting that the place for us to look for vitality and freshness is in the hinterland, you're exactly right. I wish we could import some of that enthusiasm to Broadway.

But the vitality starts with the people, the audience. They're the ones who built this theater and who sit in the seats. And they laugh out loud. It's wonderful to hear them, and it makes theatergoing great fun again.

American teen-agers, according to one recent estimate, have about seven billion dollars to spend a year. About 30 per cent earn their money baby-sitting and in part-time jobs, 45 per cent get allowances and 22 per cent collect from both sources.

Scullion, 6-foot junior, tapped the ball in from under the bucket with less than 10 seconds remaining in the extra period to break a 66-66 tie and halt Leetonia's losing streak at six games. It was Leetonia's first Tri-County win.

Lee Radler, Leetonia's scoring ace, tied the score at 62-62 with only 15 seconds remaining in the contest. Lisbon got one more shot at the basket, but missed and the game proceeded into the overtime session.

"We just fed him the ball and let him try for a record," he said.

Giants Sign Willie Mays For $85,000

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Willie Mays has 85,000 reasons for believing Horace Greeley was right when he said "Go west, young man."

The famous center fielder joined the Giants at New York's Polo Grounds in 1951, and moved with them to San Francisco in 1958 when major league baseball came to the West Coast.

Tuesday he signed a contract calling for an estimated $85,000. That may make him 1960's top-salaried baseball player and is an estimated $5,000 over his last year's pay.

Such a pay boost came after a season in which injury-hampered Willie's batting average slipped from .347 to .315.

Rozelle Named New NFL Head In Surprise Move

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Pete Rozelle, 33-year-old general manager of the Los Angeles Rams, is the sixth commissioner of the National Football League.

Rozelle's selection as a compromise candidate to succeed the late Bert Bell came unexpectedly Tuesday night and cleared the decks for debate today on league expansion.

The youthful native of South Gate, Calif., was elected to the $50,000-a-year job by club owners who had fought bitterly for seven days through 23 ballots.

Rozelle, announcing he would keep league headquarters in Philadelphia and eventually move to New York City, was given a three-year contract. He said he planned to keep the league staff intact, including Austin H. Gunsel, acting commissioner since Bell's death Oct. 11.

Minutes after Rozelle's election, the owners re-elected Gunsel league treasurer, giving him a $5,000-a-year salary boost to a reported $15,000 and a $10,000 bonus for his work as acting commissioner.

Rozelle's first problem as commissioner concerned the important issue of expansion which will be taken up today.

PETE ROZELLE
New NFL Commissioner.

"Expansion is a must for the National Football League," said the new commissioner.

However, the 6-foot 1½-inch former Compton (Calif.) Junior College basketball player did not say when the league should expand. He said that would have to be determined by the league owners.

Minneapolis-St. Paul and Dallas have been promised franchises this year. Miami, Fla., and St. Louis are possibilities in 1961. Representatives of all four are here awaiting the decision. It will take 10 of the 12 votes to push through an amendment necessary to approve any expansion.

The new commissioner's election was far from unanimous. Actually only nine votes were cast on the deciding ballot. Under the league constitution at least three-fourths of the total votes cast were necessary for election. Rozelle received eight. San Francisco voted for Leahy and Detroit, Los Angeles and the Chicago Bears passed.

The break in the stalemate over election of a commissioner came after the afternoon session Tuesday. The seven backers of Leahy finally realized they could not put over the West Coast barrister in face of determined opposition from the minority four.

Wellington Mara of the New York Giants and Paul Brown of Cleveland suggested Rozelle as a compromise candidate.

FIELD AND STREAM

By R. L. LIDE

The first real freezing temperatures has brought out the season's first ice fishermen at Westville Lake.

Perch and bluegills are being taken as I have said before, ice fishing is quite productive.

Pine Lake is also open for ice fishing. You don't have to go up to Lake Erie to get good fishing when the fishing is better right at home. Maybe you have a farmer friend who has a pond full of fish. Maybe he will let you catch a mess for him and yourself.

I WISH people when writing me to stop in at their home would give directions how to get there instead of giving R.D. "so-and-so" as the address.

The rural routes cover a lot of territory. Maybe you are widely known in the township or county, but it could be I never have heard of you. Another thing, put your name on the mail box so I will know you live way down the lane.

When I drive up, I will sound my horn. I am sick of fighting off farm dogs who hate all people wearing a uniform. Recently, I had to fight off two half-breed dogs, across between a German shepherd and collie, a breed that is naturally vicious. I want you to know that being in a dog fight with my bare fists is no fun.

IF YOU ever have been bitten by a dog once like I have, you don't intend to get bit again if there is any way to prevent it.

I like dogs as well as anyone, but when the animal gets so domineering he will bite your friends or any one entering your premises on a legitimate mission, it's time the owner be held responsible.

About two-thirds of the dogs in the county never have had a shot for rabies. It would be good if we had a law compelling all dogs to be inoculated for rabies.

I like dogs, but I like people better. What about your pooch? Is she running around ready to attack any person who comes on your premises? If this is the case then let it be known and you certainly will be isolated from all your friends. If you can't control your dog, then the dog is smarter than you are.

I have a spaniel who kicks up an awful fuss when any adult person comes to the door. He won't bite, and he likes children. When allowed to exercise, he sometimes lets off steam chasing cars. I wonder what he would do with one if he caught it?

New Cumberland Trips Newell Five, 70-59

By R. L. LIDE

Perch and bluegills are being taken as I have said before, ice fishing is quite productive.

Pine Lake is also open for ice fishing. You don't have to go up to Lake Erie to get good fishing when the fishing is better right at home. Maybe you have a farmer friend who has a pond full of fish. Maybe he will let you catch a mess for him and yourself.

I WISH people when writing me to stop in at their home would give directions how to get there instead of giving R.D. "so-and-so" as the address.

The rural routes cover a lot of territory. Maybe you are widely known in the township or county, but it could be I never have heard of you. Another thing, put your name on the mail box so I will know you live way down the lane.

When I drive up, I will sound my horn. I am sick of fighting off farm dogs who hate all people wearing a uniform. Recently, I had to fight off two half-breed dogs, across between a German shepherd and collie, a breed that is naturally vicious. I want you to know that being in a dog fight with my bare fists is no fun.

IF YOU ever have been bitten by a dog once like I have, you don't intend to get bit again if there is any way to prevent it.

I like dogs as well as anyone, but when the animal gets so domineering he will bite your friends or any one entering your premises on a legitimate mission, it's time the owner be held responsible.

Substitute Henry Berry tossed in a field goal with only a few seconds remaining in an overtime period as Midland Junior High nipped Hopewell, 38-36, Tuesday on the Hopewell floor.

Berry's goal climaxed an uphill battle for the young Leopards, who trailed 23-13 at halftime. Midland came within two points, 27-25, at the end of the third quarter then tied the Hopewell five as the regulation time expired.

John Chuldenko dropped in 17 points to pace Midland. Overmire was high for the losers with 16.

The victory was Midland's third in nine contests.

Nonpareil Club Plans Reserve Cage Tourney

The Blue and White Nonpareil Club's annual Junior basketball tournament may take on a "new look" this year if plans discussed at the club's meeting at the YMCA Monday night develop.

Aimed at boosting local interest, the club is considering possibilities of holding a tournament for area reserve squads along with its annual tourney for high school varsities.

A six-member committee was named to investigate and plan the double tournament by Ralph Musuraca, new president for 1960.

According to preliminary plans, reserve squads from the area participating would battle in opening games of the tourney and an eventual champion would be crowned along with another winner from high school varsity teams invited.

The varsity - reserve tourney would give local interest a needed boost as few East Liverpool-Wellsville cagers are eligible to play in the Junior tourney each year because of state rules, the club feels.

The Ohio ruling that varsity cagers participating in post-season tournaments become ineligible for spring sports nearly eliminates all local players from the Junior tourney.

Named to the six-member planning committee were Dick Forzano, Dick Waggle, Ed Hester, Harry McConville, Ralph Crowe and Chuck Cronin. A committee meeting is planned soon.

The program included talks by Jim Harris, Potter basketball coach, and McConville, president of the Little Potters basketball league.

McConville explained that the cage league for youngsters 11-13 years-old would serve as an eventual "feeder system" for ELHS. The program is long-range, he pointed out, and is not expected to "bear fruit" for several years.

Eight teams have been organized, the president said. Games are played each Friday afternoon at 4 in the high school gymnasium, while practice sessions are held Saturdays. A total of 99 youngsters attended the first meeting, while 50 others were enlisted at schools.

Harris commented briefly on this year's Potter varsity and told the club that "there is no size at all" in the picture for the next few years.

"The team is coming along fine and if things smooth out our opponents will really have to play ball to beat us," Harris said. More hustle and determination are evident each day, he added.

Harris also commented on New Philadelphia — East Liverpool's opponent Friday night — which has a 3-6 season record.

In other business, prospects for an annual football preview were aired.

Weekley's, Hales' Gain Victories In Y-Member League

Weekley's offense rolled into high gear for an 80-63 win over Klubert's and Hales' tripped Anderson's, 63-45, in Tuesday night's YMCA - Member League at the "Y" gym.

Wayne Cline took over the leadership for single point honors when he dropped in 34 to pace Weekley's. Behind him in the scoring was Bill Hulme, who added 22 for the winners.

Jim Tice with 25 and Jan Burke with 21 topped Klubert's.

Woody Pusey's 25 points carried Hales' to its victory over Anderson's. Pacing the losers was veteran Jack Green, who tallied 16 points.

West Virginia-Pitt Battle To Hold Spotlight Tonight

By The Associated Press

West Virginia resumes its bid for the top national ranking after an 11-day layoff while its Southern Conference neighbor, Virginia Tech, continues its push for just plain recognition in college basketball features tonight.

West Virginia, fourth-ranked nationally but with the best over-all record of all major teams at 15-1, plays at Pitt in its first game since it blasted Villanova from the unbeaten ranks on Jan. 16. Virginia Tech — quietly building up to West Virginia's class in the Southern Conference — seeks its ninth straight victory and its 13th in 15 games in a road toughie at Dayton.

Both West Virginia, riding a 56-game winning streak within the Southern Conference, and VPI have 6-0 conference records this year but don't meet during the regular season.

Meantime, West Virginia continues its challenge to Cincinnati, Bradley and California — the three once-beaten clubs ahead of it in the Associated Press national poll, and VPI keeps moving from stop to stop on the road on an admitted campaign to make a national name for itself. The Gobblers are 17th in this week's AP poll.

Of Tech's 24 games this season, 18 are on the road. So far, they've played at home only twice and after tough Dayton (13-3) tonight, they move on Thursday to Toledo, ranked 13th nationally after building an 11-2 record that includes a victory over Dayton.

Kentucky, just about knocked out of the Southwestern Conference race it usually dominates, plays Georgia at Columbus, Ga., eighth-ranked Villanova (12-1) is at Army, and Loyola of Los Angeles against seventh-ranked Utah (14-2) in other major games tonight.

Alabama (3-11) snapped an 11-game losing streak, beating touring Oklahoma City 54-52 on Larry Pennington's basket with five seconds left in one of the few major games on Tuesday night's schedule. It was the third straight road loss for Oklahoma City, which plays at Miami (Fla) before returning home.

Kent State Routs Marshall, 101-70

By The Associated Press

Kent State's Golden Flashes showed an amazing 48-point improvement over their previous meeting with the Big Green and smashed Marshall, 101-70, in a Mid-American Conference basketball match Tuesday night at Kent.

The 31-point victory reversed a 17-point defeat (92-75) at Marshall two weeks ago and gave Kent its first MAC win in five tries while lowering the visitors to 3-4 in the loop. A 26 points to 3 spurt turned a 4-10 deficit into a 30-13 lead for the Flashes and they kept up the hot pace after as Oliver Wallace scored 24, Pete Baltic 21 and Harvey Hunt 20 points.

Only one other Ohio team was in action, Ohio Northern traveling to Angola, Ind., to win a tight 81-79 tilt from Tri-State. The Polar Bears saw a 44-32 halftime lead wiped out before salvaging the triumph.

Houston Buffs Cut Bill To $262,500

NEW YORK (AP)—The latest asking price of $262,500 for a Continental League group to buy out the Houston Buffs of the American Assn. was branded today as "still too much" by the new league's founder, Bill Shea.

Informed that directors of the Buffs had cut their original demand of $492,500 nearly in half, Shea commented:

"At least they're becoming more reasonable. Although the figure is still much too high for a triple-A franchise, it isn't nearly as ridiculous as the half-million dollars they demanded before.

"They paid $100,000 for the club and that's what we'll give them—even though it isn't worth it. We won't be blackjacked into paying exorbitant indemnities."

The Huston Sports Assn., which holds the Houston Continental League franchise, is headed by Craig Cullinan. He has been given 10 days to accept the Buffs' asking price of $262,500.

Foul Shots Bring Wins In Pro Loop

By The Associated Press

The foul shot, often ignored in these days of fast-moving high-scoring tactics in the National Basketball Assn., had the final say Tuesday night for the New York Knickerbockers and the Detroit Pistons. Without the free throw they would have been dead.

New York sank 31 of 36 to help beat the Western Division-leading St. Louis Hawks 123-119, while Detroit iced a 121-114 victory in the final minutes with five free throws. The two games were the only ones scheduled.

The Knicks had to be hot at the charity line because St. Louis had a 33-of-39 mark, including 21-of-24 in the first half. But a torrid last quarter brought the last-place New Yorkers from a 14-point deficit to victory.

Gene Shue sank all 11 of his free throws, including 3 in a row that helped stifle a fast-moving Syracuse rally that had narrowed the score to 116-113.

Steeler Contract Inked By Preston Carpenter

PITTSBURGH (AP) — After a heart - to - heart talk with Pittsburgh Steeler Coach Buddy Parker, Preston Carpenter decided not to play for Dallas of the new American Football League and inked a contract with the Steelers Tuesday.

Parker obtained Carpenter, veteran halfback and end, along with defensive halfback Lowe (Junior) Wren in a trade with the Cleveland Browns for quarterback Len Dawson and end Gern Nagler last December.

After the trade, Carpenter said he planned to play for Dallas.

'Boys' Hold Spotlight In PGA's Senior Golf

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP) — The "boys" take over the spotlight in the 21st annual PGA Seniors Golf Tournament today.

They are the 50-54 age group and if they hope to take over the lead one of them will have to better the 1-under-par 71 shot by Al Watrous Tuesday. He led the field of the 55-and-up age group entrants in the first round.

The youngsters include such capable performers as Paul Runyan, Leland Gibson, Dick Metz, Clarence Doser and defending champion Willie Goggin.

Considering that the greens of the 6,609 - yard PGA National course are hard and glass-slick, bettering the score of the Birmingham, Mich., veteran will be no easy task.

Gene Gibson Resigns As Grid Aide At WVU

MORGANTOWN (AP) — Scratch the name of Gene Gibson from the list of assistant football coaches at West Virginia University.

The 33-year-old Gibson announced Tuesday night he is leaving his backfield job for a similar position at Boston College under newly-appointed Ernie Hefferle, former Pitt and Washington Redskin assistant coach.

Gibson's departure will mean the first break in the ranks of the coaching staff headed by Art Lewis since WVU President Elvis J. Stahr announced earlier this month that Lewis was retained "by the skin of his teeth."

Lewis, on a recruiting tour through southern West Virginia this week, could not be reached for comment.

The foul shot, often ignored in these days of fast-moving high-scoring tactics in the National Basketball Assn., had the final say Tuesday night for the New York Knickerbockers and the Detroit Pistons. Without the free throw they would have been dead.

New York sank 31 of 36 to help beat the Western Division-leading St. Louis Hawks 123-119, while Detroit iced a 121-114 victory in the final minutes with five free throws. The two games were the only ones scheduled.

The Knicks had to be hot at the charity line because St. Louis had a 33-of-39 mark, including 21-of-24 in the first half. But a torrid last quarter brought the last-place New Yorkers from a 14-point deficit to victory.

Gene Shue sank all 11 of his free throws, including 3 in a row that helped stifle a fast-moving Syracuse rally that had narrowed the score to 116-113.

Steeler Contract Inked By Preston Carpenter

PITTSBURGH (AP) — After a heart - to - heart talk with Pittsburgh Steeler Coach Buddy Parker, Preston Carpenter decided not to play for Dallas of the new American Football League and inked a contract with the Steelers Tuesday.

Parker obtained Carpenter, veteran halfback and end, along with defensive halfback Lowe (Junior) Wren in a trade with the Cleveland Browns for quarterback Len Dawson and end Gern Nagler last December.

After the trade, Carpenter said he planned to play for Dallas.

'Boys' Hold Spotlight In PGA's Senior Golf

They are the 50-54 age group and if they hope to take over the lead one of them will have to better the 1-under-par 71 shot by Al Watrous Tuesday. He led the field of the 55-and-up age group entrants in the first round.

The youngsters include such capable performers as Paul Runyan, Leland Gibson, Dick Metz, Clarence Doser and defending champion Willie Goggin.

Considering that the greens of the 6,609 - yard PGA National course are hard and glass-slick, bettering the score of the Birmingham, Mich., veteran will be no easy task.

Gene Gibson Resigns As Grid Aide At WVU

The 33-year-old Gibson announced Tuesday night he is leaving his backfield job for a similar position at Boston College under newly-appointed Ernie Hefferle, former Pitt and Washington Redskin assistant coach.

Gibson's departure will mean the first break in the ranks of the coaching staff headed by Art Lewis since WVU President Elvis J. Stahr announced earlier this month that Lewis was retained "by the skin of his teeth."

Lewis, on a recruiting tour through southern West Virginia this week, could not be reached for comment.

FINAL CHAPTER OF RIVER SAGA. The paddlewheel towboat Winifred was floated away Tuesday night about 7 after being raised from the bottom of the Ohio River about 50 feet off shore near 4th St. in Wellsville. The 100-foot boat sank Jan. 18 after being swamped by a strong current and waves. It was raised by two huge Dravo Corp. derricks yesterday afternoon at 3 and pumping operations started immediately. After all the water was removed, the Winifred was tied along side the towboat Susan and taken downriver to near Stratton where it was tied to shore. Both towboats are owned by Valentine & Todd Towing Co. of Blawnox, Pa. Harvey Todd of Hookstown, one of the co-owners, said it has not been decided whether or not the Winifred will be repaired and put back into service. Its removal was necessary as a navigation menace.

Would-Be Ohio Investors Warned On Out-Of-Staters

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An increasing number of mail solicitations from out-of-state savings and loan associations has resulted in a warning to would-be Ohio investors from two officials of the state's Commerce Department.

Supt. Andrew C. Putka of the department's Division of Building and Loan said solicitation usually is made in the form of a letter or brochure mailed to the potential investor's home. It attempts to induce him to transfer his account by reporting high dividends, offering free gifts and referring to "commercial insurance" protection for accounts.

W. Patrick Green, chief of the department's Division of Securities, added that the soliciting firm also may send a draft to fill out to transfer the account.

Before responding, Putka and Green said, it would be a good idea to get in touch with their division.

"We certainly don't want to deprive anyone of good dividends," Putka said. But he added that it is against Ohio law to withdraw a savings account by draft, and institutions in the state cannot legally honor a draft sent out by out-of-state firms for the investor to use in transferring an account.

Some of the out-of-state firms do not have adequate insurance on their accounts and some are not under the supervision of either the federal government or the state in which they are located, Putka went on.

Soliciting of savings accounts amounts to sale of a security in Ohio, Green explained, and those out-of-state savings and loan associations not registered in Ohio as securities dealers are violating the law.

He said his division sent a letter last week to First Fidelity Savings and Loan Assn. of Baltimore, Md., directing it to "cease and desist" from soliciting savings accounts in Ohio. It said, in part:

". . . You are not licensed as a securities dealer in Ohio, nor are the securities which you are offering for sale registered with this division, both of which are required prior to lawful solicitation or sale in Ohio."

If They're Rare

There's Money In Books

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Would you like to search for buried treasure?

Well, don't overlook your own attic, basement, or barn loft. There may be a small fortune hidden there in the form of old books bought long ago by your great-grandfather.

The hunting is likely to be particularly good if you are the member of a pack-rat family that sentimentally clings to its possessions for several generations.

"There is a real boom in the rare book market today, particularly in Americana," said Van Allan Bradley, 46, literary editor of the Chicago Daily News.

In a volume of his own titled "Gold in Your Attic," Bradley lists some 2,000 scarce books worth $25 to $25,000.

The $25,000 item is for a paper-bound first edition of Edger Allen Poe's "The Murders in the Rue Morgue," which sold for only a few cents when it was originally published in 1845.

"The chance of your finding such a book in your attic is extremely remote." Bradley said, "but now and then it does happen."

None of his readers has stumbled upon a $20,000 book, but a number have found books worth $1,000 or more, and many have turned up books worth hundreds of dollars.

Examples of valuable finds by his own readers range from a copy of the first Chicago City Directory of 1844 that brought $250 to an 1845 edition of Lansford Hastings' "The Emigrants' Guide to Oregon and California," which fetched its discoverer the tidy sum of $3,000.

Bradley estimates there are perhaps 6,000 serious private book collectors in the United States—not counting museums, libraries and foundations — plus 100,000 more "who collect in a mild way."

"You can't tell the value of a book by its title," he said, pointing out that a 50-cent 1859 copy of a booklet called "Guide to the New Gold Regions of Western Kansas and Nebraska" and recently sold for $1,800.

Books don't even have to be very old to be valuable. Copies of the first edition of L. Frank Baum's "The Wonderful Wizard of Oz," published in 1900, sell for $175 to $600.

Would it pay a man now to stow some of today's modern books away in the attic for the benefit of his great-grandchildren?

"Certainly," said Bradley, "if he were wise enough to pick important limited first editions by important authors. Books can be a good long-range investment."

Happy hunting! But if you find an old book you think is rare, don't write me about it. I collect old cigar bands myself.

Herein Lies A Storey Of Mistaken Identity

CLEVELAND (AP)—Frank W. Storey met Frank W. Story today, after being mistaken for him for the last two months.

"I get tired of being asked, "aren't you a little young to be the chief of police?'" Storey, 46, said. He is the large accounts manager for northern Ohio for the Kahn Meat Packing Co. of Cincinnati.

He was transferred to Cleveland from the home office two months ago, and his identity troubles started.

Tuesday afternoon he went to Central Police Station and introduced himself to Story, the 69-year-old chief.

The pair talked for almost an hour, but failed to find any common relatives.

"I'm always glad to know that I'm not being impersonated," Chief Story said. "Maybe someday I'll be mistaken for him. That will be the real switch."

Two Stores Charged

CLEVELAND (AP)—Charges of violating the Sunday closing law were filed here Tuesday against two Giant Tiger stores on the complaints of two representatives of Sunday, Inc., a group seeking enforcement of the Sunday law. Both stores named in the warrant had been involved in similar charges previously.

Ohio Woman Attacked As Man Seizes Her Car

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 55-year-old woman was raped early today by a man who forced her car to the curb after firing a shot into it, Cleveland Heights police reported.

The woman, not identified by police, said she was driving along when another automobile pulled alongside and the man driving it fired the pistol shot. She was not hit by it.

The man got into her car, forced her to drive to a nearby side street and then pistol-whipped and raped her, the woman told police.

Killed In Collision

CINCINNATI (AP)—A two-car collision in nearby Madeira caused the death Tuesday of the driver of one car, Philip Russell Miller, 22, of Midland.

Bender Claims Signatures In Delegate-At-Large Bid

By JAMES B. SIBBISON

WASHINGTON (AP) — George H. Bender said today he has enough signatures—1,000—to make him a candidate for Ohio delegate-at-large to the GOP national convention.

"But I won't file them until the last minute," the former Ohio Republican senator said in a telephone call from Cleveland.

The deadline for filing petitions for the May 3 primary is Feb. 3. Bender is planning to run as an independent Republican against the Ohio organization slate pledged to Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Asked if his candidate is Nixon, too, Bender replied:

"It might be—perhaps. It might not be—perhaps. Nixon wants me.

"I got a letter from some guy the other day who called him 'tricky Dic.' I don't share that view."

For serving as "anti-rackets" consultant to Teamsters president James R. Hoffa, Bender has encountered considerable criticism from Ohio Republicans.

Bender, however, referred to his opponents as some "Republican hacks in Ohio."

Some Republicans, he said, have tried to talk him out of the race. "But I'm running," he said.

When he campaigns around the state, he said, he will carefully avoid the regular organization people.

"I'm not going to embarrass any precinct comedians (sic)," said Bender.
